'Anything Is Possible' In ACHS Talks

by GLORIA DAVIS

"Anything is possible," was the answer given by Ted DeRousse, head of the Antioch High School Teachers' Union, when asked if the teachers were going out on strike.

On Wednesday, Oct. 22, the teachers voted to inform the state and board of their intent to strike. This was officially done on Monday.

According to one of the negotiators for the teachers, Norm Hahn, this is a legal procedure(must be done five days before striking) that means the teachers can strike but not that they are definitely going to.

Hahn said, "We are close, although the board's offer on four of the items is not exactly what we are looking for, we can live with it if they will come up on our salary request."

At press time the teachers are asking for an eight-and-one-half percent increase for one year or 17 percent on a two-year contract basis.

The board's last offer was a 7 percent increase for one year or 14 percent over a two year span. Officials of the board have previously stated that 14 percent is a final "highest we will go offer."

During the negotiations, the teachers have said that it's not just the money(salary raises), but all five points put together in a package that is the hold up.

According to the board, the entire package being talked about amounts to over a $400,000 increase.

The teachers are calling for binding arbitration to settle the stalemate; the board has said "never" to that.

At press time, Wes Jennings, the federal mediator, had called a meeting of the two negotiating teams at 7:30 p.m., on Saturday, Nov. 6.

When DeRousse was asked if the teachers would hold off any strike plans until that meeting, he refused comment.

When the head negotiator for the teachers, Dick Olson, asked to "let the professionals handle things," on Oct. 21, Frank Walsh, head negotiator for the board said,"I started this with my committee and I will finish it that way."

According to the board, the concessions made at the last negotiations meeting on Oct. 21 include: allowing Allendale teachers in the high school bargaining unit to apply for a substitute teacher two days before the union meeting, held once a month on Wednesday, at 2:35 p.m.: payment of $300 per semester per teacher to 10 teachers to monitor the cafeteria for 25 minutes, five days a week when school is in session (total cost $6,000); 7 percent salary increase for this and next school session.

The board said they agreed to fair share in which all teachers(except three tenure teachers)will pay $280 a year union dues but they do not necessarilyhave to join the union.

At the end of the year an auditor will subtract the cost of representation and give any override back to the individual teacher.

The board also agreed to make a class size statement to avoid class sizes that hamper good education.

Antioch News Follows Area's Crime Spurts

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Village of Antioch, population less than 5,000 middle and upper middle class people, many professionals, for the most part has the very low crime rate expected of a village of this size, that has a very active and well-respected police department.

Antioch Twp., population between 17,000 and 20,000, falls into the same category with the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. policing the unincorporated area.

For 100 years the Antioch News, the Antioch Reporter and now the Antioch News-Reporter has covered the Antioch crime beat on a week to week basis. Usually this may mean a few petty thefts, a drunk-driving arrest or the passing of some bad checks in local retail outlets(deceptive practice).

But every so often the headlines of the local newspapers have mirrored those being run in the more metropolitan dailies.

Back in the 1920s and 1930s, when the law enforcement of the area was dependent on the sheriff's department, and a local constable, magistrate or marshall(their titles changed), the Antioch News carried stories of bootlegging and slot machine dealings perpetuated by members of Chicago's gangland that wended their way up north where Elliot Ness was not as much in evidence.

In 1927, an Antioch constable, Stanley Thompson, shot and killed a prominent Chicago gangster that had thrown a girl from a car after kidnapping her in Maywood. All four of the bullets Thompson fired hit the mark.

The local News headlines in 1929 matched those running in the Chicago Tribune when federal agents cornered 13 Chicago gunmen in two Deep Lake resorts in connection with the illegal delivery of liquor during prohibition.

Newspaper stories told about world-infamous characters like Bugs Moran and Al Capone hanging around a resort in Bluff Lake.

The local constables and the sheriff's department were kept busy on the weekends stopping fights, etc. in the many road houses that could be found in Antioch Twp.

During these years a jewelry store in Wilmot owned by R. C. Shotliff(then considered part of the Antioch territory covered by the News)was robbed; service stations were being robbed and one robber was shot to death and another apprehended after "The Great Soo Railroad Line Robbery."

After World War 2, the Village of Antioch employed one chief of police and two patrolmen. The chief's salary was $200 per month and the patrolmen were making $180 each.

The 1950's brought mom, apple pie and Police Chief Walter Scott to Antioch.

Sometime the most exciting story in the Antioch News was about "Scotty" breaking up a teenage fight.

During the 1960's and 1970's, when world famous author Jay Robert Nash III, (who is now a nationally known researcher), did a year's stint at the Antioch News, things livened up a bit when a drunk pointed a shotgun at passersby on Main St. from an

Voters Ready To Go Out To The Polls

As Antioch voters prepare to go to the polls to vote next Tuesday, few burning issues are out there. Antioch Twp. Sup. Jim Fields and Republican chairman Chuck Kempf have something they can agree upon: they both want to win the township for Donna-Mae Litwiler for county clerk.

On the county board, Norm Geary and Char Kiesgen are running unopposed.

Footlights '86 Promises Entertainment

It's that time of year again for St. Peter's Church to put on its annual fundraiser. This year's "Footlights '86" will feature a wide variety of entertainment to satisfy the most discriminating tastes.

The theme for this year, "Footlights and Fancy Free," will highlight two local amateur bands. The Song Merchants and Grease, as well as a local professional talent, will provide musical entertainment throughout the evening.

There will be 10 rooms of continuous entertainment, music, dancing and comedy. The entertainment needs have been thoroughly taken care of.

St. Peters is pleased to announce that a shuttle service is available this year to take customers from local area parking lots to Footlights' front door. So, no matter what the weather, access to Footlights will be as convenient as possible.

Doors open at 6 p.m. on Oct. 31, and admission is restricted to those guests over 21 years of age.

Grass Lake Receives State Report Card

As required by state law, Grass Lake Elementary School, Dist. 36, released its first annual School Report Card. The report card provides information about students, student performance, instruction and finances for the elementary school district.

The information contained in the report card was gathered during the 1985-86 school year, with some financial facts dating back to the 1984-85 school year. To maintain uniformity, the format of the report card was the same all over the state.

Since many studies have shown that students from low-income families suffer in their school work, the percentage of these low-income children at Grass Lake School is an important statistic. The report revealed that 8.4 percent of Grass Lake students are from low-income families, considerably less than the state average of 23.7 percent.

Of the 251 students enrolled at Grass Lake Elementary School, 0 percent are participating in special education programs. Grass Lake Sup. Anthony Przeklasa added in a letter, however, that no children at Grass Lake School spend more than 50 percent of their time in special education classes.

In his letter, Przeklasa said that 20 students receive speech and language resource services. He added that 18 students receive Learning Disability resource services, and that six students are tuitioned out to other schools for self-contained special education services.

Grass Lake School scores well in the student attendance rate category. The best rate would be 100 percent, meaning that all students attend school every day. If the attendance rate is good, students tend to have higher classroom performances.

95.1 percent of Grass Lake School students attend school regularly, 1.5 percent above the state average.

The student mobility percentage indicates how many students enter or leave the school during the school year. 11 percent of the students enrolled at Grass Lake School either came or left during the 1985-86 school year, with 20.8 percent being the state average.

Grass Lake also scored well in student performance characteristics. The state average for students not promoted to the next grade is 5.1 percent. Only 2 percent of all Grass Lake students did not get promoted to the next level.

In the area of instructional resources, Grass Lake School has mixed results. The report says that grade three at Grass Lake has an average class size of 29 students, more than five above the state average. Grade six is almost eight above the state average, with grade eight being the only grade to report a class size less than the state average.

On the whole, Grass Lake students spend more minutes per day studying English and social science than their fellow students throughout the state. Grass Lake School does, however, spend less minutes per day teaching math and science courses than the average state school; the difference, though, is minimal.

The teacher to pupil ratio at Grass Lake School is, according to the report, very close to the state average. There are 21.8 teachers for every student at Grass Lake, and 20.8 students per teacher across the state. The pupil-administrator ratio is very good at Grass Lake School, with 167.3 to one versus 221.8 to one state-wide.

Teacher's salaries, at $18,581, are almost $10,000 short of the state average. The average Grass Lake administrator salary is $34,667, and the state average is $41,284. In regard to the operating expenditure per student, Przeklasa wrote that, "the operating expense per pupil is almost $1,000 or 28 percent less than the state-wide average."

Any student who lives outside of Dist. 36 will pay $2,352 to attend Grass Lake School, while the state average for per capita tuition charge is $3,071.

Dist. 36 had a total fund of expenditures of $728,809 for the school year of 1984-85. Of that total fund, 78.6 percent was spent on education. The state average is 77.3 percent. The remaining 21.4 percent is spent on maintenance, transportation, bond and interest, municipal retirement and construction.

Those with questions about the report card should call the school at (312) 395-1550.

Moose Honor Co-Worker

The Oct.16, business meeting of the Women of the Moose featured Louise Imburgia, the Antioch chapter's misician, being honored as the co-worker for the month. A gift and card were presented to Imburgia on behalf of the chapter by Senior Regent Theresa Grefkowicz.

Reports from the Mooseheart committee regarding the Oct. meeting and the style show sponsored by the membership committee were outlined to the chapter. The audit for the first quarter, July 1 through Sept. 30, was read to the chapter by star recorder Terry Smallwood.

After the birthday march for Dorothy Laursen and Karen Groth, all of the 28 members attending recorded messages to a member of Antioch Chapter, Harriet Grewe, who now resides at Moosehaven in Orange Park, Fla. The recorder as well as the tape were sent after the meeting to Harriet as a gift from the chapter.

The next enrollment meeting is to be held on Nov. 6 at 8 p.m.

Parking Gets Facelift

The improvements in Antioch's downtown parking situation are proceeding at a steady rate. According to Michael Warren of Century 21, half of the blacktop has already been poured. He also said, though, that the extremely rainy weather has hindered efforts to pour the rest.

The Antioch Redevelopment Commission, founded in 1984, is supervising construction in the parking areas. A tax incremental program is financing the project, and two-thirds of the parking improvements are within the tax incremental's financing district.

Warren said that by the end of the year the parking areas should be completely blacktopped and have lights installed.

The Rotary Park Project, said Warren, should be finished by spring. The Antioch Rotary Club has voted to improve the pedestrian access to the park area.

Construction plans include installing planters, performing landscaping, and constructing two buildings. One of the buildings would be a gazebo, where people could stroll or sit down. The other would be a multi-use facility, where seasonal events such as a Santa's Christmas house and Easter functions would take place.

Warren said that some of the work at the park area has been completed.

New Parking

The above map illustrates some of the changes in Antioch's downtown parking situation. September rains hindered much of the construction, but Michael Warren of Century 21 said things were progressing steadily.

Local Students Get Opportunity To Study Abroad

"Qualified high school students are offered a unique opportunity to spend an academic year or summer holiday in Scandinavia, Germany, France, Switzerland, Britain, Holland, Spain, Australia, New Zealand, or Canada (French or English speaking) as part of the ASSE International Student Exchange Program," Warren Clague, Midwestern Director of ASSE, has announced.

"Until a few years ago, only a fortunate few could afford to spend a school year or summer abroad. Now ASSE has changed all that," continued Clage.

Students 15 to 18 years old qualify on the basis of academic performance, character references, and a genuine desire to experience life abroad with a volunteer host family from Europe, Canada, New Zealand or Australia.

"ASSE families abroad are carefully screened to provide a caring environment in which students can learn the language and culture of their host country," explained Clague. Summer exchange students live with an English-speaking family abroad. Year students need not have learned a foreign language as they receive language and cultural instruction as part of the ASSE program. ASSE students attend regular high school classes along with their new overseas teenage friends. "ASSE exchange students learn by living the language and culture of their host country," added Clague.

The non-profit, public benefit ASSE International Student Exchange Program is affiliated with the National Swedish and Finnish Depts. of Education and is participating in the President's International Youth Exchange Initiative.

Local students who are interest in receiving more information about becoming an exchange student can contact Beth and Carl Johansen, 530 Longview Dr., Antioch, IL 60002, (312)395-5906.

U.S. Cable, Waukegan, has raised $2,400 in support of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. (M.D.A.).

The money raised will stay in the Lake County area to help provide valuable medical services to patients afflicted with over (40) neuromuscular diseases covered by M.D.A.

Metra Hearing

The Metra Commuter Rail Board will conduct a public hearing on its preliminary capital program and budget for 1987. The budget calls for no fare increase and for no reduction in service. The hearing will be held on Thursday, Nov. 6, at the Lake County Courthouse, East Conference Room, 10th floor, 18 N. County St., Waukegan. Hours are from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. and then from 7 p.m. to conclusion.

Deadly Bugs

What is man's most deadly enemy in the wildlife world? The lion? - no. The polar bear? - no. Mosquitoes may be man's deadliest foe. They deploy parasites that cause malaria and kill one million people a year in Africa alone. They are also responsible for high death rates in India, Pakistan, Asia, Central America and the Caribbean islands.

Praline Pie

PralinePecanPie HalloweenTreat

Serves 8
1-9" pie plate

Ingredients

1 quart Roney's buttered pecan ice cream
15 pecan shortbread cookies, like "pecan Sandies"
3 T melted unsalted butter

Praline Sauce
3 T unsalted butter
½ c white corn syrup
⅓ c heavy cream
2/3 c brown sugar
2/3 c pecans, chopped
Optional...whipped cream and Halloween candies for decoration.

Directions:

In a blender, grind the cookies into crumbs, five at a time, to make 2 cups of crumbs. Place crumbs into a bowl, stir in melted butter and press mixture evenly into the pie plate. Freeze.

Make the sauce by bringing the butter, syrup and cream to a bubbling boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature.

Sprinkle ½ of the pecans into the pie shell and cover with ½ of the praline sauce. Fill with Roney's buttered pecan ice cream. Smooth with a knife to build up an ice cream "ridge" around the outside edge of the pie. Freeze.

In preparation for serving, sprinkle remaining pecans on top of pie and pour on remaining sauce. The raised outer edge will keep the sauce from running off. Decorate the outer edge with whipped cream and candies and serve at once to your very lucky guests.

Symphony To Do 2nd Concert

The Lake Forest Symphony will present its second concert of the 1986/87 season Friday, Nov. 7, 8:30 p.m., in the Ross Auditorium, Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Great Lakes.

Ross Auditorium will replace LFS's usual home, the Drake Theatre, Barat College, Lake Forest for this concert because, "We want to bring our music to a wider community and make it more accessible to our neighbors," said Ellen Reid Eastman, chairman of the symphony's board of directors.

The featured soloist will be soprano Marvis Martin, who has been hailed by national and international press for her performances in opera, in recital, and as soloist with symphony orchestras.

The guest conductor of the Nov. 7 concert will be Michael Morgan, recently appointed Exxon/Arts Endownment assistant conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Morgan is one of the few conductors of his age to have important careers on two continents.

The program includes Mozart's Symphony No. 29 in A Major and Symphonic Variations, opus 78, by Dvorak.

For reservations and easy driving directions, please call the symphony office, (312) 295-2135. Tickets are $12 to $14, with reduced rates for seniors and students. They are available at the Deerpath Inn, Don's Finest Foods, Helanders, Smith's Men's Store and all Ticketron outlets and Teletron, (312) 853-3636.

Schedule Open House

Riverside Developmental Services, the new day training facility for mentally retarded adults who reside at the Riverside Foundation, will hold an open house on Tuesday, Nov. 4 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Local businesses as well as the general public are invited. It is located at the former Woodland Park School, 1321 Wilmot Rd., Deerfield. For more information, call Pete Mule at (312)940-0012.

Bar Assn. To Sponsor Dinner

The Lake County Bar Assn. is sponsoring a retirement dinner for Circuit Court Judge John L. Hughes and Second Dist. Appellate Justice Harry D. Strouse, Jr. on Wednesday, Nov. 12 at the Country Squire Restaurant, Ret. 120, Grayslake. A cash bar will open at 5:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. Cost is $15 per person.

Final "Hamfest" at Fairgrounds

The last Hamfest of the year, sponsored by the Waukegan Squadron Civil Air Patrol, will be held on Sunday, Nov. 2 in Building 1 at the Lake County Fairgrounds, Rtes. 45 and 120, Grayslake, from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hamfest is a flea market for radio equipment. For further information, contact Mr. Bromstead at (312)244-2134.

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland

by GLORIA DAVIS

Marriot Lincolnshire Theater just opened its current beautifully done production of the Rodgers and Hammerstein classic, "The King and I," and has scheduled it to run through the Christmas holidays. A great idea since it's a show the entire family will enjoy.

Leading a very competent cast are Mary Ernster as Anna, the English teacher who travels to Siam to teach the King of Siam's 70 some children and many wives, and Ray Fewen who plays a very "young" King.

Ernster plays her role much the same as Irene Dunne and Deborah Kerr did in Hollywood's non-musical and musical versions of Margaret Landon's popular story. Marriott's Anna is a beautiful, very strong and classy lady.

Fewen has a hard row to hoe following Yule Brynner's Chicago run last year in the role of the King which was his very own for many years.

Fewen moves like one would expect the King of Siam to move; he dresses like one would expect the King to dress; he barks orders and delivers his lines like an early 19th century oriental potentate would have, but something is missing.

For those of us who have been acquainted with King over the years, he looks too young and too oxidental even on his death bed, and the regal but lovable depth of his personality that was beneath that stoic surface is missing.

For those who are being treated to what is really a love story of sorts for the first time, Fewen's forceful interpretation of a man who wants to learn to govern his people by using the best of two worlds, is a good one.

Kurt Jahns and Susan Moniz, who play the ill-fated young lovers, stop the show twice when their rich booming voices fill the theater with "We Kiss In A Shadow," and "I Have Dreamed."

Another standout is Ann Arvia's Lady Thiang who makes the audience really believe that "Something Wonderful" happens when she is with her King.

Of course all the King's children are darling and a few of them supply touching individual "kids will be kids" chuckles.

Director Dominic Missimi does a magnificent job of handling a large cast on Marriott's small stage, the costuming is rich and colorful,and as usual, Kevin Sites and his orchestra supply the perfect musical background for the Rodgers and Hammerstein classics like "I Whistle A Happy Tune,""Shall We Dance," and "Hello Young Lovers."

I still think the "Shall We Dance" waltz scene is probably one of the most powerful musical sequences ever.done on stage.

Ray Fewen, Mary Ernster

Navy, Army To Honor All-Time March King

Long before the days of radio airplay, televised concerts and mass-marketed record albums, John Philip Sousa was entertaining millions of people around the world with a particular style of music that marked his place in history as the "World's Greatest Bandmaster."

As part of a nationwide "Tribute to John Phillip Sousa," residents of Lake County will have the opportunity to experience an authentic Sousa-style concert when the combined bands of the 4th U.S. Army and Navy Band Great Lakes, presents a special performance at Ross Auditorium, Naval Training Center Great Lakes, on Sunday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m.

Conducting the concert will be Army Chief Warrant Officer Dennis S. Stone of the 4th U.S. Army Band at Fort Sheridan and Navy Chief Warrant Officer Doyle R. Church of Navy Band Great Lakes.

What was it about the "March King's" music that attracted thousands of people? According to Chief Warrant Officer Church, Sousa's concert style was for his audiences, not his colleagues. Above all else, he was an entertainer. His concerts were characterized by their fast pace, spirited encores that came many times during the concert, use of outstanding soloists, and a rousing finale of his most famous composition, "The Stars and Stripes, Forever."

Sousa was born in Washington, D.C. on Nov. 6, 1854, the third of 10 children. As a child, he was an excellent student, both in his academic and musical studies. At age 13, he planned on running away with a circus band, but his father, Antonio, enlisted him instead as an apprentice musician in the U.S. Marine Band.

After his military discharge at age 20, Sousa remained in Washington and continued conducting and performing on the violin, his first love.

After several years of conducting, composing and performing in cities around the country, he accepted an appointment, at age 25, as leader of the U.S. Marine Band.

Twelve years later he resigned from that post and formed his own symphony concert band. Until his death on March 6, 1932, the Sousa Band performed for standing-room-only crowds of admirers, both in the United States and abroad.

Opera House To Host Chinese Magic Revue

"The Chinese Magic Revue" will appear at the Woodstock Opera House on Sunday, Nov. 9, at 3 and 7 p.m.

Currently in their 11th national tour of the United States, the "Chinese Magic Revue" offers more than a glimpse into the fascinating Orient. It consists of the sensational Chinese acrobatics, comedy, balancing feats, Kung Fu, Chi-Kung, Chinese traditional dances, magic and much more. This is a truly Oriental spectacular and a show for all ages.

The grace and precision of the acrobats are the triumph of years of dedicated training and discipline, but their art was formed by centuries of tradition.

The cast numbers a minimum of 20 artists. In the past 11 years, tours have taken place throught South America, Central America, southeast Asia, South Africa, Zimbabwe, Monte Carlo, Canada, New Zealand, Israel and the United States.

They appeared with Liberace for three years, playing Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe and Reno.

Besides appearing on the Liberace NBC Special, they have also been seen on "Merv Griffin," "Dinah!" "Mike Douglas," "Seven On Location," and, more recently, "That's Incredible!"

The National Assn. for Campus Activities honored the group with their 1986 Campus Entertainment Award for best attraction in major performances.

Completes Training

Airman Brent V. Brenner, a 1986 graduate of Central High School, Salem, Wis., has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Nevill Wins Award

College of Lake County student Jane Nevill has been awarded the Doreen Copeland Memorial Scholarship presented annually to a journalism student at CLC. The award, in honor of former News-Sun journalist Doreen Copeland, is presented by the Lake County Press Club and the Lake County Assn. of Journalists.

Nevill would like to obtain a degree in journalism from the University of Illinois once she was earned her associate degree at CLC. She is a proficient horsewoman and plans to pursue a career in equestrian journalism. Nevill is currently a writer for "On Course" magazine, a publication covering equestrian events in Wisconsin and Illinois.

She resides in Gurnee with her husband and three children.

Charity Drive

The Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) has currently raised $491,549, or 65 percent of its $750,000 goal for 1986. The CFC is the annual charitable fund drive for federal employees. The Service School Command has reported $227,000–85 percent of its goal, and Recruit Training Command has reported $180,000, or 73 percent of its goal. Retired Navy Capt. Elmer Maiman, the liaison between the CFC and United Way, stated that the CFC campaign was running ahead of last year's pace and that the probability of reaching its goal appeared extremely high.

Wormburgers?

What animal is earning a reputation as a fertilizer, garbage disposer and source of protein? The earthworm, of which there are some 3,000 species, will eat through all kinds of organic waste and recycle them as fertilizer. In addition, for every ten pounds of garbage that earthworms consume, they produce a pound of meat that tastes like chicken. Although scattered tribes around the world have traditionally eaten worms, experts think it's unlikely the wormburger will ever replace the hamburger on our menus.

County Clerk's Race Is The Only Question Mark

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

The only close race on the countywide level is the one for Lake County clerk. The Democrats have not had one of their better years on other offices, but have high hopes of retaining the clerk's office. Following is a synopsis of each countywide race.

LAKE COUNTY CLERK

Incumbent Democrat Linda Hess has probably picked up more endorsements than any other Lake County candidate. Whether it will be enough to overcome an energized Republican organization that is determined to regain this office remains to be seen.

Republican challenger Donna-Mae Litwiler has been quiet through most of the campaign, an unusual position for a woman who prides herself on the nickname, "The Lip." When she has spoken, she says that Hess has been a poor administrator who does not have the respect of the people in her own office. Litwiler says that Hess should have been working to line up election judges long before she did. She also maintains that Hess, unlike her democratic predecessor Grace Mary Stern, does not work well with Republican county officials between elections. Litwiler promises to boost efficiency and morale in the office if elected. She is in her second term as a county board member from district 4.

Hess has picked up endorsements from the AFL-CIO, the Lake County Federation of Teachers, the Independent Voters of Illinois, and Republicans Mike Graham and Herb Gorrell of Libertyville, Tom Nossen of Vernon Twp., Sue Hanson of Lake Villa Twp., and Virginia Harrington of Avon Twp.

Hess has criticized Litwiler for failing to address the issues and refusing to meet in open debate. The clerk has also criticized Litwiler's high rate of absenteeism and tardiness during her tenure on the county board. Hess says that Litwiler has neither the background nor training to qualify her for the clerk's office.

Hess also blasted Litwiler for her failure to show up for the crucial Heartland settlement vote on Oct. 16. The settlement approved establishment of an incinerator and landfill run by Waste Management in central Lake County.

"This decision may well

VOTE YES!! PUNCH 15 ON YOUR BALLOT AND SHOW YOUR SUPPORT OF VETERANS ORGANIZATIONS IN YOUR COMMUNITY.

Veteran's organizations are valuable assets to communities throughout the State of Illinois. Unfortunately, monetary difficulties threaten the continued existence of the State's veterans' organizations. Over the past few years, approximately one-half of the veterans' post homes in Illinois have closed their doors due to rising costs.

The groups annually conduct numerous activities to honor American war heroes. They provide aid to indigent veterans and their families, support homes for veterans and their children, and annually decorate the graves of thousands of American Veterans. In addition, veterans' organizations provide educational and summer-camp scholarships for children, donate medical equipment to hospitals, sponsor athletic programs, and promote the scouting movement. In short, through their facilities and services, these organizations have become an important part of local communities throughout Illinois.

It must be remembered that many members of these organizations served our country in time of war. They have established post homes and other facilities to continue their service to our country and community in time of peace. Your "yes" vote on this amendment represents one small way of saying "thank you" for the voluntary contributions that these organizations offer.

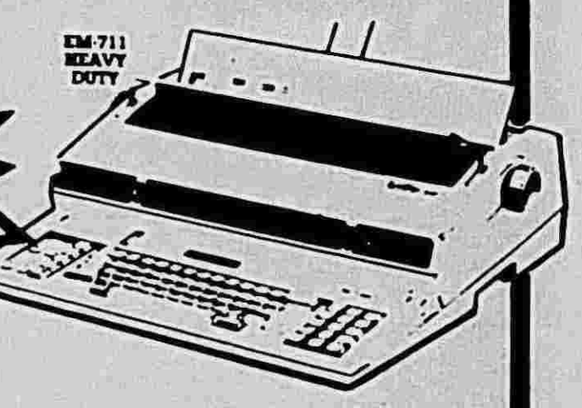

The loss in revenue incurred by a unit of local government as a result of the exemption from taxation of property used exclusively for veterans organizations shall be reimbursed by the State to the unit of local government.

Paid for by the VFW Post 4551, Antioch, Illinois.

Volo Bog To Sponsor Annual Fall Bird Seed Sale

Bird-watching can be a rewarding and educational experience that's a sure antidote for those dull, grey winter days. And, there's no better place to watch the activities and action than from the comfort of one's own home.

The Friends of Volo Bog are sponsoring their annual fall bird seed sale, which in addition to a variety of bird foods, will also feature bird houses, feeders, books and other items. This is a perfect opportunity to get started in this fascinating hobby or to stock up on supplies or Christmas gifts.

In addition to helping the birds, the proceeds of the sale will go towards educational and recreational services, programs and facilities at the Volo Bog State Natural Area.

Order forms with descriptions of the items are available now at the Volo Bog Visitor Center or the Moraine Hills State Park Center. Forms can also be obtained by calling (815)344-1294.

Halloween Tricks Ain't What They Used To Be

When I Think About It

It's costume time as the area municipalities gear-up for one of the greatest national Mardi Gras anywhere, Halloween. Keeping things a little more in tune, remember that this year's Halloween celebration will take place on Friday. Maybe not on Friday the 13th, but the fact that the date is just switched around a little to read Friday, Oct. 31, is more than just a little ominous, especially as far as the always present unlucky black cats are concerned..

Halloween 1986 means for most people, kids donning $4 store-bought costumes, masked with the face of their favorite cartoon or toy-world character, and skipping off to their school, town or village party.

Where it is allowed, some of these plastic and nylon clad masqueraders will carry shiny shopping bags, engraved with "Trick Or Treat", or synthetic handled hollow pumpkins from door to door in their own neighborhood during the eve's early twilight hours, most of them just standing there while the house's occupant puts mini-candy bars, bubble gum or apples into the waiting receptacles.

Not only do many of today's Trick or Treaters forget to say that well-known epithet, most of them probably don't know exactly what it means. It's just the thing you say on Halloween that garners some goodies that are hopefully razor-blade-free.

But back in the days when Trick or Treat was invented, and no one had to have their treats x-rayed, that phrase could send a cold chill through the hearts of those unlucky souls who forgot to make doughnuts, or fudge or candy apples and, horror of all horrors, didn't even have a few pennies to give those who knocked at their door on "All Hallow's Eve!"

Actually, according to the tales I have heard, in those days, most of the masked street urchins were bent on tricking whether or not any goodies were forthcoming.

Oh, the thousands of out-houses that were tipped over to their owners consternation in those pre-plumbing days!

More than one of those hapless owners was making use of his facility at the time of the "trick,"yuk!"

I once saw a store window so uniformly waxed that it looked exactly like frosted glass. I also remember how long it took me to scrape that wax off with a razor blade. As I recollect, my mother was already sewing on my next Halloween costume.

One of my uncles used to tell the story of how they used to pry the lids from area septic tanks until the year he tripped and fell into one while trying to escape a irate home owner.

My husband tells how he and a pal wrapped a rope around one of the few out-houses left in town, but as they tipped it over, the sound of the crashing of dishes and other household goods greeted their ears. It seems they had just upset an unusually small fishing cabin.

My dad often recounted the mystery of how a lacey pair of bloomers bearing the embroidered monogram of the local school teacher found their way to the top of the flagpole by the post office, waving in the breeze for all the townfolk to admire, the morning of All Saints Day.

Commenting on the news stories about treats containing razor blades or pins, etc., my father remarked that the only bad treat he had ever gotten came from old Mrs. Crimmins, the town grouch, who passed out little tea cakes loaded with pepper to the kids that used to dance around and jeer about her ample girth.

The best true Halloween story also came from my dad who was an undertaker's assistant when he was 17.

The way the tale went, early Halloween eve, just as he and his boss were reaching their workday's deadline(pardon the pun)when Old Joe, the very superstitious black janitor,was due to arrive to clean up the mortuary, my dad came up with a Halloween trick that really backfired.

"You tell Joe that I had a heart attack this afternoon and died and you just haven't had time to finish the embalming," suggested my wayward parent.

"I'll get on the table under the sheet and look out!" he plotted.

Well, the mortician went along with the plan, repeating how sad it was to see such a young man pass away as he left, locking the door behind him.

The rest was debt-filled history as far as my dad was concerned.

"As Joe was sweeping and whistling, I moaned a little and started to sit up. There was a shout from Joe, he tried the door. I moaned and moved again. Then quick as a flash Joe went out the window and it was days before we saw him again when he came in a gave his notice," my father said.

You see, the trouble was that window was a pane glass window and the mortician felt that my father should pay for it since the whole idea had been his to start with.

Antioch Crime

apartment window on New Year's Day. A local used car dealer took all the financial institutions in town for hundreds of thousands of dollars and a drug-involved goulish and bloody murder took place when an Antioch dentist killed his partner.

There was a controversy between the Antioch News and the Antioch Reporter(then under separate ownership)concerning the "voluntary" retirement of Antioch's police chief, Jack Davis.

An editorial in the News castigated both the Reporter and the Waukegan News Sun for "dirt digging" in intimating that there was more than met the eye in Davis' retirement.

The 1980's brought the conviction of two well-known native sons when William Haley was found guilty and jailed for being the largest drug dealer in northern Illinois and Phil Burke(two-time mayoral candidate)was sent to prison for passing bad checks.

It was during these years that the News carried the acount of one of Antioch's most fearless crime fighters, Helen Boravicka, who while in her 80s still ran Reeves Drugstore.

Just as the store was closing one evening in the early 80s, a young man came in and with his hand in his pocket holding what he claimed was a loaded gun, demanded drugs.

While Helen headed to the back of the store where the prescription counter was(with the boy right behind her, pocket bulge and all)the story went that she whispered to her sister to call the police despite the fact that she never stopped bawling the boy out for wanting drugs.

An alerted Antioch policeman came up behind the boy and captured him. When his hand was withdrawn from his pocket it clenched a loaded gun but this didn't daunt the well-trained pharmacist who was still angry at him for demanding a drug without a proper prescription.

After several fatal accidents involving teens and alcohol happened in the area, the raise of Illinois' drinking age in 1980 brought Antioch to nationwide attention in its fight against border-hopping teen drunk divers.

Antioch's Police Chief Chuck Miller was often seen on Chicago television and the newspapers, both local and metropolitan, as well as "People's Magazine," covered the overwhelming success of Antioch's fight against teen drinking and driving.

More nationwide notoriety came to match the headlines of the Antioch News-Reporter when a popular community activist and local businessman, Woody Kelly, took local people and those from several other states to the tune of $6 million in false investment promises and then disappeared from his yacht on Lake Michigan. To this date the town of Antioch wonders "where is Woody Kelly?"

Today, Antioch's full-blown law enforcement agency boasts of Chief Miller, Lieut. Tom Fisher, Sgt. Charles Watkins, Cpls. Roth and Lange, seven patrolmen, five dispatchers and one secretary ready to face and fight local crime as it happens.

ACHS Talks

The board claims that they have moved up in their salary offer in the last two negotiating sessions, while the teachers' asking salary has stayed the same.

Additional things that the board claims to have offered the teachers include: payment of $45 per day for unused sick leave accumulated after 135 days, not to exceed payment for a maximum of five days; a sick leave bank; minor changes in personal leave structure; additional two days paid leave for union business; major changes in contract language concerning maternity leave; plus salary for teachers who have reached the top of their salary schedule; an additional $1 per hour(to $13 per hour) for teaching summer school; increase in payments for non-teaching and extra curricular assigments; an increase of $1 per period(to $13) for intra-school substitute work plus a statement of teacher valuation, a change in duration of contract agreement.

The board claims these additional items will cost $40 per year.

The board originally had six points they presented, four have been tentatively agreed on and two have been withdrawn by the board.

One might wonder what good the negotiations will do when the teachers are asking for two things, more money or arbitration, and the board has said "never" to both of these.

Camp Crayola To Open

Antioch Parks & Recreation announces their new session of Camp Crayola beginning Nov. 5. It will be held at the Scout House in Williams Park on Main St.

Camp Crayola is for children age three to five years and is held from 9 a.m. to noon. The Monday-Wednesday class has openings; for sign-up, call Glenda Tomaschtik at the Parks Office at (312)395-2160.

The cost is $45 in the township, and $55 outside Antioch Twp. for a six-week session. Camp Crayola is an ongoing program that continues until school is out. The upcoming session will include Thanksgiving and Christmas parties.

Gander's Business Increases

Gander Mountain, Inc. (NASDAQ-GNDR) reported a 39 percent increase in net income and a 31 percent increase in sales for the first quarter, ended Sept. 30, as compared to last year's first quarter.

Net income for the first quarter was $514,000, or 19 cents per share on sales of $13,241,000 as compared to net income of $371,000 (before an extraordinary tax credit) or 19 cents per share on sales of $10,100,000 for the comparable quarter last year.

The increase in shares is attributed to the company's Initial Public Offering on April 2, in which 1,035,000 shares of common stock were sold; 810,000 shares were sold by the company and 225,000 shares by stockholders.

County Races

have been the most important piece of legislation to ever affect central Lake County," Hess said, "but where was my opponent when the vote was taken? She does not have the courage to represent her district on important issues. How can she represent the voters (of all the county) as Lake County Clerk?"

Both candidates have made inroads and this one should be the barnburner on election night.

LAKE COUNTY SHERIFF

Incumbent Republican Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox should win this one easily. He has been a leader in improving boating safety, has presided over plans for the new county jail, and has returned the office to a professional stance after four very political, very tumultuous years under Tom Brown. Although a top political power, Babcox has left the day-to-day administration of the office to professional appointees.

His opponent, Democrat Sander Stagman, has been quick to raise charges and slow to provide substantiation. Stagman charged that the death of veterinarian Janice Runkle, which was ruled suicide by then-Coroner Babcox, was actually murder and was covered up by Babcox. An inspection of the coroner's file on Runkle revealed that most of the evidence Stagman cited was misleading and some was just plain wrong. Stagman made much of the fact that Runkle's signature on the final notes she wrote was different from her handwriting. True, but the signature matched those on all her identification documents. It is not unusual for people to have a stylized signature that differs from their normal handwriting. He also said that, according to the report, she wasn't wearing panties. That was wrong. The report said, and autopsy photos showed, that she was wearing panties. Finally, Stagman never mentioned that in all three of the notes she wrote in her final days, it was clear that she was contemplating suicide.

Babcox will win this one easily.

TREASURER

Incumbent Republican Jack "Red" Anderson was to face Democrat Brad Berman, who dropped out of the race. Berman was replaced by Brad Flannery, a realtor.

Flannery promises to use the office in an advocacy role, punishing those banks who have high consumer service charges by withdrawing deposits.

Anderson said that such a policy would go beyond the scope of the office. He would simply deposit money where it gets the highest return for the taxpayer's, though he believes that all county financial institutions should get some deposits.

The issue has not generated a lot of interest. Anderson may win on straight votes alone.

REGIONAL SUPT. OF SCHOOLS

Republican Sybil Yastrow is unopposed for this office. She will replace the respected, retiring incumbent Bill Thompson.

Yastrow has been Thompson's first assistant superintendent of schools and has done a fine job. She supports teacher competency tests, fingerprinting of school personnel, and background checks of all school personnel.

She will, of course, win.

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE

Republican John Goshgarian is seeking to move up the ranks. He is currently an associate judge in the 195th judicial circuit. He would like to see greater public participation in the judicial process, including jury selection and a court watch program.

His opponent, Democrat Peter Staben, has a private practice and is a respected attorney. He supports merit selection of judges.

Both are qualified. In a Republican year, in a Republican county, Goshgarian is a sure winner.

Interfaith Library Workshop

The Northeastern Illinois Chapter of the Church and Synagogue Library Assn. will hold its Fall 1986 workshop, "Visions, Videos and Viability" on Saturday, Nov. 8 from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Knox Presbyterian Church, Naperville. Three sessions on congregational libraries, as well as a book exhibit, will be presented. Registration fee is $8 and includes lunch. Pre-registration is required by Nov. 1. For more information call Lois Schultz at (312)985-2340.

Halloween Square Dance

Buoys and Belles Square Dance Club will sponsor a Trick or Treat Square Dance on Friday, Oct. 31 at Great Lakes Community Center, Greenbay Rd. and Rte. 137, Great Lakes. A rounds workshop will be held at 8 p.m., and dance from 8:30 to 11 p.m. Costumes are optional. All modern western square dancers in the area are invited, and refreshments will be served. For more information call (312)362-5337.

Release $2.5 Million In Flood Grants

Flood victims in northeastern Illinois will soon begin receiving nearly $2.5 million in direct grants now that the money has been transferred from Washington, D.C. to the state treasury in Springfield, Gov. James R. Thompson said on Oct. 21.

The money is part of the federal disaster relief program for flood victims in portions of Cook, Lake and McHenry counties. President Reagan approved the governor's request earlier this month to declare part of northeastern Illinois a national disaster area and other areas have been added since then.

"In each step in this process, from designating state disaster areas, to calling out the National Guard, to asking for and receiving federal help, appropriate, prompt action was taken to respond to a difficult situation," the governor said. "For more than a week, flood victims have been cleaning up homes and filling out forms. This money will help them take care of one job and make the other worthwhile.

The transfer of funds today from Washington to the state treasury in Springfield means that applications for grants can be processed," he added.

The first nine vouchers for individual assistance grants, worth more than $18,460, were sent Friday from the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) to the comptroller's office for processing so money can be handed out to flood victims.

One of the grants will go to an 81-year-old McHenry County woman whose home was flooded. She'll use her $1,700 grant to purchase appliances, kitchen utensils and clothes.

"Because of the severity of the flooding, the Governor elected to earmark all the CSBG funds we had put aside for this particular relief effort," said DCCA Director Jay R. Hedges. "The funds are limited, so it is important that people understand they are available only to individuals from low-income households, and then only for short-term needs."

CSBG funds will go to Community Action Agencies requesting emergency assistance. They include the Community and Economic Development Assn. of Cook County, $25,000; the Illinois Valley Economic Development Corporation, $10,000 for Jersey and Calhoun counties; the Lake County Community Action Agency, $30,000; the St. Clair County Community Action Agency, $40,000; the Tri-Country Regional Planning Commission, $7,000; and the Two Rivers Regional Council, $10,000 for Adams and Schuyler counties.

Fraud Busters

An election unit has been formed by the State's Attorney to assist the county clerk in conducting the Nov. 4 general election and to receive and investigate Election Day complaints. The election unit will be headquartered in the office of the county clerk and may be contacted by calling (312)360-6632 on Election Day.

Close Offices

All Illinois Secretary of State office and facilities will be closed for General Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 4, and for Veterans' Day, Tuesday, Nov. 11.

Planning For Election Night

McHenry County Under-Sheriff and Republican candidate for McHenry County Sheriff George Hendle (left), State Sen. Jack Schaffer (center), and Lt. Gov. George Ryan discuss the upcoming election at a reception in Woodstock honoring Schaffer. Ryan praised Schaffer for his work in the General Assembly and urged voters not to ignore the important Nov. 4 election.

It Does Matter Who Wins Clerk's Race

by JOHN STEINKE

The 1986 election campaign has been as exciting as my political column: Z-Z-Z-Z-Z. I really can't blame you for telling me, "Wake me up when the election is over." There is only one competitive countywide race in Lake County. It involves Democratic County Clerk Linda Hess and her Republican challenger Donna-Mae Litwiler.

You're thinking, "Does it really matter who is Lake County clerk? It doesn't affect my life." Normally, your alalysis would be right. But I would argue that this is the most important Lake County election in the last 20 years.

We cannot allow Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox to gain control of the county clerk's office with the election of Donna-Mae Litwiler. Then Boss Hogg will control the election machinery. Republican Lake County will then resemble Democratic Crook County. Litwiler is Babcox's sycophant. Under "Mickey-Mae" Litwiler, the voting curtain may become the Iron Curtain for Republican machine candidates. Personally, I'm apprehensive that our votes will be weighted rather than counted under a one-party system. Hess' defeat will guarantee the Republicans a monopoly of all the countywide offices.

Many of us will be tempted to vote the straight Republican ticket. Past political history should persuade us to keep our hands on our ballots. Don't you remember when Republican leaders encourated us to vote for Dawn-Marie Mardoian for circuit court clerk (1976) and Tom Brown for sheriff (1978)? The GOP organization assured us that their elections would guarantee quality government. Mardoian's mismanagement of her office cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars in audits. Brown's politicization of his department cost residents thousands of bucks in litigation. Both Mardoian (1980) and Brown (1982) were defeated for reelection.

In my judgement, Donna-Mae Litwiler will mismanage and politicize the county clerk's office. She will be an embarrassment to the Republican party just like Mardoian and Brown. Why don't you ask your GOP precinct committeeman if he or she is proud of the Mardoian-Brown records in office? Linda Hess' high caliber as a person, her trenchant intellect and her tireless, unstinting, day-to-day hard work have made her one of the most valuable county clerks in Illinois. Hess' only sin is that she is seeking reelection on the Democratic ticket.

On Nov. 4, you should split your ticket, and vote for Linda Hess.

Students To Cast Vote In State Fish Election

"When Illinois grade school students cast their vote for the state fish this year, the Lake County Clerk's office will make available to the schools ballot boxes and voting booths," said Lake County Clerk Linda Hess.

"We want to help support this project which is coordinated by the State Board of Education and to encourage youngsters to vote," Hess added. "I feel voting is an important responsibility, and our young people should be given the opportunity to learn about the process. Voting for the state fish is an excellent way for them to learn about the voting process."

To sign out a voting booth and ballot box for a school, call Mary Ellen Durkin at 360-5913. The school must pick up and return the materials to the County Building.

Workers Prepare For Possible Strike

Members of the Chicago Newspaper Guild, Waukegan Unit, are preparing for a strike against the Waukegan-based News-Sun. Negotiations have continued for 10 months.

At issue are the size of pay increases and a change in the health insurance program. The guild represents 29 reporters, copy editors, photographers, librarians, and clerical personnel.

The News-Sun is owned by Copley Newspapers, Inc. of LaJolla, Cal.

Statewide Races Are Foregone Conclusions

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

In the statewide races, 1986 appears to be an incumbent's dream. Odds are that all the state officer's next year will be the same as this year, except for treasurer, where incumbent Democrat James Donnewald lost the primary to Jerome Cosentino.

Following is a synopsis of statewide races:

GOVERNOR-LT. GOVERNOR

What was originally billed as a rematch of the barnburner of 1982 has deteriorated into the theatre of the absurd. The same candidates are running against each other, but fate and strategic errors have left Adlai Stevenson a much weaker candidate than he was four years ago.

Running nominally as the New Solidarity candidate, but really the Democratic candidate, Stevenson's campaign was struck a devastating blow when his hand-picked candidate for lieutenant governor was defeated in the primary by Mark Fairchild, a follower of political extremist Lyndon LaRouche. Stevenson got off the Democratic ticket and formed a third party in order to avoid being tied to Fairchild.

Democrats are clearly trying to make the best of a bad situation. There is an undercurrent of resentment among top Democratic leaders that Stevenson waited until the last minute, after a slate had been chosen, jumped in, and forced everyone to move back a notch. Between that and the problems that have plagued his campaign, this may very well be Stevenson's swan song as a major political figure.

Incumbent Republican Gov. James Thompson has been stung by allegations that he has put state contracts "up for sale" and that the state is rife with cronyism. In return, he has ridiculed Stevenson as an inept, bungling candidate who didn't do anything for Illinois when he was in the U.S. Senate.

Though never a tremendously popular governor, Thompson has not had any major scandals in officing during his ten-year tenure. Most have come to regard him as a competent, if not inspiring, governor. He is helped by the popularity of his running-mate, incumbent Lt. Gov. George Ryan. Ryan has been a mover and shaker in the Build Illinois program and has built up a lot of goodwill with local officials throughout the state.

Stevenson's running-mate, Michael J. Howlett Jr., is best known as the son of former secretary of state, Michael J. Howlett, Sr.

Thompson and Ryan should win this one in a walk.

UNITED STATES SENATE

Incumbent Democratic Senator, Alan Dixon, will most likely be the top vote-getter in the state. He has been a middle of the road senator who reflects the diverse sentiments of his constituents. He is fiscally conservative and has also supported President Reagan on most defense items. One notable exception was his successful opposition to the Sergeant York anti-aircraft gun, which he said was terribly flawed. Most experts agreed with him.

Dixon's opponent, Republican Judy Koehler, has been a state representative since 1980. She is a solid conservative who promises to support President Reagan straight down the line. In the statehouse, she has opposed legislative pay raises.

She has been hurt by running an extremely negative campaign, slashing and tearing at Dixon at every opportunity. She is further hurt by the nagging suspicion that there is little intellectual bedrock in her approach to the issues. Many top Republican leaders will concede privately that she has run a terrible campaign and has become an embarrassment.

Dixon won't have to break a sweat on this one.

TREASURER

Democrat Jerry Cosentino has been in this office before, from 1979 to 1983. He would use the power of deposits and withdrawals to insure consumer protection in such areas as credit card finance charges and credit discrimination.

Republican Mike Houston, the Mayor of Springfield, says that modern cash-management techniques should be introduced to the office to speed up collections and get the most interest out of deposits. He emphasizes that the treasurer should be a full partner in economic development efforts in the state.

This campaign has been a snorer. In a bad year for state Democrats, Houston has an edge.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

Republican challenger Bernard Carey, who was the pride of the Republican Party as Cook County State's Attorney, seems to be out of his depth in this one. He has criticized Democratic incumbent Neil Hartigan for establishing regional offices throughout the state. That has been one of the most popular programs Hartigan has implemented. Carey has also said that the attorney general should be something of an at-large state's attorney. That is statutorily impossible.

Hartigan, during his tenure, his improved service, cut costs, and is in the process of computerizing the office for further savings. He has continued the advocacy programs begun so effectively by Bill Clark and Bill Scott during their terms as attorney general.

Hartigan has never lost an election. There is no reason to believe he will break that string this time.

COMPTROLLER

Republican State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis is a strong favorite in Lake County. Incumbent Democrat Roland Burris has been among the top vote-getters statewide for a long time, though.

Geo-Karis says the comptroller's office should be used agressively to weed out "sweetheart" contracts and to help develop the economic base of the state. Jobs, jobs and more jobs is the theme of Geo-Karis' campaign.

Burris maintains that the comptroller is the people's watchdog on the state treasury and that is how it should remain. He points out that he accurately predicted that Gov. Thompson would have to change his rosy view of the state's fiscal condition after the election in 1982.

Geo-Karis will win in a landslide in Lake County, but Burris remains strong downstate. The edge goes to Burris, but Geo-Karis has won upset victories before.

SECRETARY OF STATE

Republican incumbent Jim Edgar is the rising star of the Illinois Republican Party. He has been a leading advocate of tougher drunk driving laws as part of a larger program to improve overall traffic safety in the state. He has been an effective, efficient administrator and appears to be the leading Republican candidate to some day take Thompson's place in the governor's mansion.

Democrat Janice Hart isn't. A Democrat, that is. She is another of the LaRouchies who won in the primary. She would send tanks up State Street to fight drugs and she is bent on convincing people that the Queen of England is a mastermind of the international drug trade. A very silly candidate.

New Solidarity candidate Jane Spirgel could not poll enough support to appear in the League of Women Voters' debate. An honest, sincere candidate, she has not been able to generate the name recognition to wage an effective campaign.

Edgar's star will continue to rise.

Veterans' Groups NeedVoterSupport

Political Columnist

In the Nov. 4 general election, the third referendum on the ballot would grant a tax exemption to veterans properties, including VFW, American Legion and Disabled American Veterans Halls. This proposal will not increase individual property taxes. The amendment will "require the state to reimburse a unit of local government for the loss in revenue incurred. . .as a result of the property tax exemption for veterans' organizations."

Bob Lehner is the past commander of VFW Post 4551 in Antioch. In an interview with Lakeland Newspapers, Lehner reported that this constitutional amendment was defeated in two statewide referendums. In 1980 and 1984, this proposal was supported in the Chicago metropolitan area, but lost in the Downstate counties. Lehner explained that the amendment could never be placed on the ballot again if the voters rejected it for a third consecutive time.

Mr. Lehner contended that many people possess a misconception of the amendment. They wrongly assume that the proposal would exempt any veteran's personal property from the tax rolls. Only veterans' organizations will be granted a tax exemption for their facilities. Lehner concluded, "It is incumbent that we express our gratitude to the thousands of men and women from Illinois, who have served our country in the armed forces of the United States. And we can do it without raising anybody's taxes one penny. Please punch 15 (yes) for the third constitutional amendment on the first page of your ballot."

Editorial

Coming Up Roses

Back in July, $375,000 in emergency relocation funds that had been allocated for Warren High School were vetoed by Gov. James Thompson. Shortly after that veto, we had an exclusive interview with the governor and asked him about it.

Thompson said that the money had been in a whole package of "legislative add-ons" and that he had vetoed the entire package. He suggested that school officials contact his office so he could help them try to find the funding from another source in the state budget.

Warren High School officials were quick to take advantage of the offer.

Last week, we received a letter from Dr. James Callan, superintendent of Warren High School, informing us that they have gotten the money and thanking us for helping to focus the governor's attention on the problem.

We are delighted that Warren will get the money after all. We are also delighted that the governor is a man who keeps his word. Finally, we are pleased that when we interviewed the governor, we were able to ask the right question at the right time. It is nice, from time to time, to have a problem in which everyone comes out a winner.

Letters To The Editor:

Taxpayer To Pay

Editor:

The recent rains caused Gages Lake, Valley Lake and Twin Lakes in Wildwood to rise so fast that they all overflowed their banks, creating an incredible hazard to those residents living nearby. Why?

Construction of numerous storm sewers to alleviate flooding caused by the "building boom" that elected officials seem to think is a sign of progress. These sewers bring the water into the lakes much faster than it once flowed naturally, and the drain tiles that are supposed to carry the water away cannot drain the water out as fast as it comes into the lakes. Added to that, a once cat-tail filled wetland on the corner of Rte. 45 and Washington St. that stored many inches of rainfall, has been filled in to make way for more eventual construction, thus causing that intersection to flood.

Gurnee too, has its problems, and yet city officials allow the filling of wetlands along Rte. 21 to make way for a hotel and more blacktop. If they keep that up, not only will the police station, grade school and numerous businesses be filled with water, but also the brand new high school which is being built. The river water has to go somewhere during heavy rains and spring thaws.

Once again the taxpayer is going to pay for all this marvelous development through higher taxes to pay for correction of the problem, along with unbelievable costs to repair the damage done by flooding.

Can Be Done

Editor:

F.T. "Mike" Graham, Libertyville Township Supervisor, has employed tireless efforts to save our land and environment by preserving open space.

He started alone, 20 years ago, battling fellow politicians and influential moneyed interests, and was the subject of numerous critical reviews by the editorial news media itself. He suffered political defeats only to come back stronger and more determined. Had he been born 50 years earlier, perhaps much of the floodplain destruction, that resulted in the recent devastating flooding, could have been avoided.

We all thought it couldn't be done, but he is doing it.

Job Well Done

Editor:

As a volunteer helping the American Red Cross meet the recent emergency needs of our neighbors in Lake County, I must comment on the functioning of the paid professional staff members in the Lake County District office here in Mundelein.

A disaster is something we all know will happen somewhere else, and to someone else. These people have heard of their parent organization's activities in other locations, but here they were, that Friday, with a very real one, right here! There was confusion, yes, but they began calling key trained volunteers, contacting higher Red Cross offices, and gearing the office for whatever might come–and they did a magnificent job, to the eyes of this untrained newcomer.

The titles following may not be exact, but what matters is that Tom Ellison, manager of the office, was on the job for hours uncounted, and nearly had to be pushed out of the office on a couple of occasions, to get some sleep. Pat Stejskal dug up helpers from who-can-guess-where, during non-stop telephoning, and Daphne Baille jumped in as shelter manager when no one else could be found, and worked round the clock in that capacity on at least one occasion. Marian Waddel, who I think is office secretary, with normally no after-hours responsibilities, was almost frantically busy every day until all hours, and still had her usual radiant smile to boost morale. All of the above were also noticeably visible at the sites of the various activities, well after the office had closed.

All in all, I think we should all be proud of the professional dedication of the staff of our Lake County American Red Cross office.

Editor's Viewpoint

It's Satisfaction More Than Apathy Ruling The Day

by BILL SCHROEDER

Where are the bumper stickers? Where are all the campaign buttons? Save for scattered and skimpy candidate signs, and the ever present analysis-commentary efforts of newspaper types, precious few people appear to have any interest in what is about to take place the first Tuesday of November.

Everyone closely involved in the political process–office holders, candidates, party professionals, dedicated party workers, political writers and commentators--individually and collectively is doing some serious handwringing these days.

Have we failed? Or are we failing in getting people aware and involved in the election Nov. 4? And let's remember that the conventional wisdom is to write off lack of voter interest as due to voter apathy. The concerned few (those mentioned above) put on the old hair shirt and mutter something like "we've failed again."

My answer to the handwringers and the dedicated is, heck no, we haven't failed, maybe we've succeeded beyond our wildest dreams here in Lake County, and perhaps in many other places.

The voters and the people aren't really charged up about anything. Especially in this locality, unemployment is low. Things are pretty good economically. The particular 1986 election isn't offering the usual gut-wrenching, heart-tugging choices that most elections offer. The electors have a high level of confidence in our system of government to function no matter who happens to be in office; that we've got a system that even bunglers, incompetents and out-and-out rascals can't foul up, at least not for too long. So what's to get excited about? Certainly not in an off-year election. In so many cases, the same old names are on the ballot. Big Jim. Al the Pal. Adlai. Mickey. Red. Grace Mary. Business as usual.

What we have hereabouts is satisfaction, perhaps some complacency on the part of the electors, but not apathy. Leave the hair shirt in the closet. To the pros, take a bow!

We tried out our theory on Lake County Republican Chairman Bob Neal, who has been a regular target of barbs from this column and this page since he jumped into the public limelight. Perhaps we caught Bob off guard because he only smiled in reply. Bob knows a rock when one is headed in his direction. He also can spot a compliment. Even a backhanded one.

ON THE JOB—Two members of the Lake County Committee to Reelect Thompson-Ryan called to say this column was off base last week when we wrote that all cylinders of the committee haven't been firing.

Don Weiler of Round Lake Beach, co-coordinator, doesn't agree with our observation that Gov. Jim Thompson hasn't done much campaigning in Lake County this fall, an area that should be one of the well springs of his reelection. Maybe our differences were semantic. Yes, the Guv viewed the floods, attended the Great Lakes Naval Training Center's 75th anniversary shindig, and some other obligatory events, but we haven't seen him shaking hands with the voters or hiking in any local parades, the things that testify to a candidate's desire.

Bill Gill of Zion, special events coordinator, said the committee engaged in 17 events over and above the 22 total appearances of the governor and Lt. Gov. George Ryan to date. Gill included such things as handing out balloons and literature. Gill is a precinct committeeman and an employee of the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid.

OK, guys. You've been doing YOUR job. I still stand on the premise that Thompson has been taking the low road in Campaign '86 in Lake County.

MYSTERY SOLVED–The white-gloved Marine at port arms with only a stern chin revealed on new recruiting posters and advertisements showing up about the nation is a mystery to everyone but his parents.

"If the Glove Fits" is the theme of the new advertising campaign launched to spur enlistments in the U.S. Marine Corps. All that can be seen in the photo is a white gloved hand grasping a rifle and the jut jaw depicting Leatherneck determination.

"That's Larry, all right," beamed a proud Kenneth W. Denecke, father of Sgt. Larry Denecke, 25, six years in the corps and now a member of the Presidential Honor Guard attached to the Marine Barracks, Washington, D.C. "But I guess his mother and I wouldn't have recognized him if he hadn't told us," chuckled the resident of Round Lake Beach.

Marine Corps service is a family tradition. Ken, who is a self-employed painter and decorator, served in the Marines during World War II. Their oldest son, Gunnery Sgt. Kenneth E. Denecke, has been in the Marines for 16 years.

The honor guardsman became a Leatherneck after graduation from Carmel High School. He expects to make the Marine Corps a career. The senior Denecke noted that members of the Honor Guard have more than ceremonial duties. "They all have top security clearance and their job is to protect the President. Those rifles are loaded," emphasized the poster Marine's father.

County Voters Split Tickets On Off-Years

(Political Columnist)

In the Nov. 4, 1986, off-year election, voters will elect the entire 435-member House of Representatives, 34 U.S. Senators, 36 of 50 governors, a majority of state legislatures and numerous countywide offices.

Lake County will emanate the voting patterns of mid-term elections. First, 25 to 33 percent of the people who participated in the 1984 presidential contest, will be nonvoters in this fall's election. Second, the Republican straight-party vote will exceed the Democratic total. Third, countywide Democratic candidates cannot be elected to office without the support of GOP ticket-splitters.

Here are Lake County's voting patterns for the past four off-year elections:

Registered Voters	143,998	175,602	210,399	193,914
Total Vote	99,873 (69.4%)	86,920 (44.5%)	109,920 (52.2%)	119,749 (61.8%)
St. Republican Ballots	29,648	15,218	16,033	25,730
St. Dem. Ballots	20,133	13,621	5,908	15,020
Split Ballots	49,946	58,018	87,833	70,437

During the last four mid-term elections, almost two-thirds of Lake County voters have been ticket-splitters. The Republican straight ballots have averaged 21,657 to 13,671 for the Democrats. The GOP ballots have exceeded the Democratic total by almost 8,000 votes. If this pattern prevails in the 1986 election, Democratic County Clerk Linda Hess will win reelection. The Lake County voter turnout has averaged 57.5 percent in off-year contests.

Get In The Wood And Light The Fire

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some of the information used in this article was taken from "Discover the Joy of Wood Heat," a manual written by Judson K. Perdue. It is available for $3.95 check or money-order sent to: Discover, Dept. N, 11 Brick Yard Rd., Etowah, NC 28729.

by Cindy Kujak

It's that time of year again--there's a chill in the air and we have to do what we've been dreading--turn on the heat.

The alternative is lighting a fire. There's almost nothing more romantic than sitting in front of a fireplace. But woodburning has become more than an aesthetic pleasure over the past few years. Llyle Krohn at Grassroots Energy Inc., a woodburner dealer in Wauconda, said the store has been in business about eight years and during the past few years, business has been increasing 10 to 15 percent each year.

Krohn actually lives in Pittsville, Wis., where he works cutting pulp wood for a papermill, and firewood on the side. He spends four months of the year living near the store in Wauconda. At his home in Wisconsin, Krohn of course, heats his house with woodburning stoves. So here's a fellow who can really tell you what you want to know about woodburners.

The woodstove is the only practical heating unit fueled with a renewable source--wood. This includes the fireplace insert, since it is essentially a woodstove designed to fit in the fireplace opening.

Krohn showed me some of the different types of woodburners available. Soapstone burners are the most expensive and the best for heat retention. They are very handsome as well. The most popular and the one we always think of, is the black cast iron stove, which also holds heat very well. Steel units are good heaters but heat retention is poor.

Basic fire codes generally apply: a minimum of 1/2 to 5/8 inch sheet rock around walls; and no carpeting 18 to 22 inches in front of the hearth and 12 inches on the side.

You can get a woodburning stove to heat 800 square feet for about $500. A heater which will facilitate 1500 square feet will run around $2,500.

Whether you cut your own wood, or buy it already cut, there are certain things you ought to know about.

There are two basic types of wood. Hardwoods, when burned, give off heat slowly and evenly. They give off twice as much heat as softwoods--not by burning hotter but by providing constant, longer lasting heat. Types of hardwoods are: oak, maple, ash, nut trees and fruitwoods. Softwoods are easier to handle and ignite faster. They are also easier to split. Pine, fir, spruce and cedar are all examples of softwood.

When purchasing wood, make sure it has been seasoned (aged) at least six months if it is delivered in the fall, or get it in the spring so you know it is seasoned. Also, specify that all logs over four inches across are split so they dry quickly.

Softwoods should be seasoned six months to a year; hardwoods, a year to 18 months.

If you can pursuade your supplier to bring along some "deadwood," you'll be getting a good deal. Deadwood is from a tree that has died and stood for several years, but is not rotted. Deadwood is already seasoned, most of the moisture is out and it splits easily.

Seasoned wood can be stacked against or inside a building. Unseasoned wood should be stacked in the open, with the woodpile running east to west.

Oak is plentiful in the Lakeland area, and seems to be the favorite. A full cord of oak costs between $150 to $200.

Now for the fun part--lighting the fire. But in order to do this safely and efficiently, you'll need to follow certain steps:

1) Open wide the flue damper (up and down position);
2) Open draft and/or ash door of stove or insert;
3) Crumple up three full sheets of newspaper, place on grate of bottom of firebox;
4) Lay up kindling (small strips of wood, twigs, or bark) in a rectangular or box shape, at least three layers deep;
5) After checking that the damper and draft are open, ignite the crumpled newspapers with a kitchen match on two sides.

Follow steps 2 and 4 to rekindle a fire which has been neglected.

A class A chimney is what the fire codes require--that means it can handle temperatures up to 2,100 degrees. Chimneys are tested by Underwriters Laboratories.

Woodburners employ one of two basic types of chimneys. Most common is the stove (flue) pipe connecting into a masonry chimney made up of cement block, brick or stone. The second type is the triple wall or insulated pipe. Both are inexpensive to buy and install.

The inside chimney pipe requires an 18-inch wall clearance, but the stove needs at least 36 inches.

Bent chimneys can solve some problems, but are usually not a good idea because creosote forms more easily in elbows.

It's a good idea to have a local fire inspector or certified chimneysweep inspect your chimney before lighting the first fire. Also, if you have just purchased a woodstove or fireplace insert, and are not very good with your hands, you may want to have a professional install the unit.

Cresote is a problem for anyone who burns wood. Creosote is a rough substance that builds up on the inside of the chimney as a result of condensation of smoke. If left unattended, creosote will build up and eventually clog the chimney, reducing airflow, and will finally make starting or maintaining a fire difficult. Another result of creosote buildup can be a flue fire.

To avoid disaster or lesser problems caused by creosote, practice the following things continuously:

1) Check your chimney and/or flue pipe visually once a month;
2) Have your chimney checked and cleaned by a certified chimneysweep annually;
3) Use a good quality, noncorrosive chimney cleaner regularly.

A recent development, the catalytic combustor, combats emissions and creosote buildup, and at the same time generates additional heat. It does this by burning the gases in the smoke. These are available as options on new woodburners, as well as add-ons to be installed in stovepipes and will be required by law in a few years.

Even though there are a few important things to know about using your woodburner, and some precautions necessary for safe and efficient operation, there are some important advantages.

There are few working parts in your woodburner to wear out. Chances are it will outlast your car, several appliances, and many a power outage. Trees will continue to grow, which means you are using the only renewable energy resource; not prone to price gouging, transportation shutdowns, and overseas cartels.

A good working relationship between you and your woodburner is assured through care, vigilance and respect.

Some information on fireplaces and chimneys is available from the Lake County Cooperative Extension Service, Rte. 45 and Center St. in Grayslake; call (312) 223-8627.

Preparing For Winter

Fireplaces are a cozy, comfortable way to take the chill out of even the darkest winter night. Growing more popular in the Lakeland area are woodburning stoves, which cut energy costs while adding a special, homey touch to the home. Wildwood resident Edward Benno stacks a load of wood for his winter fires. He recommends that wood be stacked running east-west with a southern exposure.

Got A Map?

Most butterflies have short memories. A scientist at the University of Colorado found that butterflies feed repeatedly from the same flower species because it takes too long to learn their way around new ones. If they venture to a new flower, then return to the old one, they must relearn the path to the nectar.

Carmel To Hold Open House Nov. 9

On Sunday, Nov. 9, Carmel High School for Girls and Carmel High School for Boys will host an open house at the school located in Mundelein. Doors will be open from 2 until 5 p.m. for prospective students, their families, and anyone else who may be interested. The open house is designed especially to help September, 1987 freshmen become acquainted with Carmel.

Carmel is a four-year Catholic High School for both boys and girls, serving all of Lake County. County-wide bus transportation for the school is provided through the cooperating school districts and the RTA. Carmel is in its 24th year of operation, with an enrollment of over 1,400 boys and girls. Eighty-five to ninety-three percent of the graduates have chosen to continue their education in college; yet Carmel provides a balanced academic education for the student who may not wish to attend college.

Visitors to the open house should use the main entrances to the school at the north and south ends of the building. Faculty members and students will be available to conduct tours and answer questions.

Registration and placement testing for new students will be held on Saturday, Jan. 10, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Carmel is located on Rte. 176 between Libertyville and Mundelein.

Wozniczka-Revelle

Susan M. Wozniczka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wozniczka of Grayslake, and Leonard B. Revelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barden Revelle of Lexington, N.C., were joined in marriage on Sept. 27 at Calvary Presbyterian Church, Round Lake, by Rev. L. Kaufman.

The bride was given away by her father in the double ring ceremony.

The bride's bouquet and handmade gown combined three generations of family tradition.

Matron of Honor was Beverly Turzy, friend of the bride. Bridesmaid was Wendy Heim, niece of the bride; junior bridesmaid was Holly Heim, niece of the bride. Flower girl was Kim Revelle, daughter of the groom.

Best man was Joe Sofie, friend of the groom. Groomsman was Jeff Hopkins, friend of the groom. Ringbearer was Michael Hubka, nephew of the bride.

Ushers were Tom Weltzer and George Heim.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Grayslake High School and a 1984 graduate of the College of Lake County. She is employed by Intrupa Mfg., Grayslake.

The groom is a 1969 graduate of Lexington High School, Lexington, N.C. and a 1985 graduate of the College of Lake County. He is employed by the Round Lake Area Police Dept.

The couple will reside in Grayslake.

Elfering-Baur

Kathy Elfering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Elfering of Antioch, and Mark Baur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baur of Mosinee, Wis., were united in marriage on Sept. 20 at St. Peter's Church, Antioch. Father Lawrence Hanley officiated.

The bride was given away by her father in the double ring ceremony.

Matron of honor was Peggy Svoboda, best friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Michelle Elfering, sister of the bride; Cheryl Ehlert, sister of the bride; and Ann Baur, sister of the groom. Flower girl was Erin Baur, niece of the groom.

Best man was Bob Hessey, best friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Bob Baur, brother of the groom; Tom Baur, brother of the groom; and John Elfering, brother of the bride. Ushers were Jeff Held and Dave Shnowski.

Following a reception at South Hills Country Club, Racine, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Clearwater, Fla.

The bride is a graduate of Antioch Community High School and is employed by Midstate Airlines.

The groom is a graduate of Mosinee Central High and is employed by Central Aviation.

The couple will reside in Mosinee, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Baur

Volo Bog Offering Halloween Storytelling Presentation

Master storyteller Jim May will tell tales of spooks and goblins at the Volo Bog State Natural Area Visitors Center, Friday, Oct. 31, at 7p.m.

The program is presented as a special event by the Friends of Volo Bog. Well known as a leader in America's revival of storytelling and the oral tradition of folk tales, Jim May finds many of his stories are based in the folklore of McHenry County.

His performances often include stories of his father's horse trading days and his grandfathers general store. His many years as a teacher and lecturer enable him to delight and reach audiences of all ages.

May's ghost stories last Halloween were such a success he was asked to return again. An outdoor event, hot refreshments will be available at a nominal charge and a $.50 per person donation is requested.

Call the Volo Bog at (815)344-1294 for a reservation as seating is limited.

Little Cats Are Terrific Hunters

Pet-Wise

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

Little cats are not just the house cat, but they are all cats that can't roar. Their voice box is different from that of the big cats. The bones in the throat are connected so tightly that it can't vibrate much. So instead, it becomes a purr.

A little cat is not always a little cat. The cheetah is a little cat, but it can outrun any big cat. The puma is the largest of the little cats. It can be nine feet long. However, a small cat such as the rusty is spotted, only two feet long and about three pounds. This is incredibly smaller than the house cat. The bobcat has the shortest of tails.

Some of the others in the Little Cat group are lynx, ocelet, African wildcat, mountain cat, European wildcat, cheetah, golden cat, clouded leopard, marbled cat, flat-headed cat, Chinese desert cat, caracal, and many more. There are many different kinds of little cats. They are found on every continent in the world except for Australia and Antarctica. The little cat is found in more places than any other group of mammal.

Of each species, the male and female look alike except the male is usually a little larger and has a bigger head. In the wild, some kinds of little cats can live up to 15 years.

These cats hunt alone. They only pair up once a year to mate, and their stay together is short.

The eyes of the little cats are also different from the big cats. When a bright light shines, the eyes close to a slit. The big cats have eyes that close to a circle.

Some little cats can jump much farther than the leopard, best jumper in the big cat group.

When you study the body of the cat, you'll find that nearly every part of the body has sometehing to do with finding prey, catching or eating it. All little cats are meat-eaters. Different species eat different kinds of meat. Most cats will hunt at night, but there are a few that hunt by day such as the cheetah. Cats not only see very well to hunt at night, but they can see six times better than people.

Even though the cats are great hunters, most cats will have to stalk ten to twenty different animals before catching one. When he does go for his prey, the cat will suddenly rush forward and try to knock the prey over with his paws.

Cats are wonderful to watch as they move with grace and agility. The body is very flexible, and they have an excellent sense of balance.

A little cat will climb a tree to get away from danger. The best climber of the little cats is the margay.

Do cats hate water? Not really, like so many people believe. Some little cats go swimming and a few catch their food in the water. He may even swim to the bottom in search of crayfish.

The little cats are fighting for their own survival. People kill them to make lovely coats.

The cats are killed for preying on chickens and such. However, the little cat kills off many animals that destroy human crops.

We must make sure that the little cats have enough wild places to live. We need these beautiful animals on our earth to help keep a balance.

Profitable Fear

Most turtles deserve their timid reputations, hastily withdrawing their heads, feet and tails into their shells at the slightest sign of danger. But, according to National Wildlife magazine, this act of cowardice has paid off. While more aggressive reptiles, such as dinosaurs, have died out, turtles have thrived for some 250 million years on every continent but Antarctica.

CLC Hosts Transfer Day

Students planning to transfer to a four-year college or university will benefit from the College of Lake County's "Transfer Day" to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 5 from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Representatives from 35 area colleges will be present in the Orange Court on the Grayslake campus to provide information to students who are interested in completing a baccalaureate degree. Pick Stocks To Beat The Battle Of Wall St.

The Meyers Report

Economic forecaster Gary S. Meyers has been a lecturer and consultant to major financial institutions government analysts, real estate developers and daily newspapers throughout the nation for the past 16 years. Readers are invited to submit comments and questions for possible use as subjects for future columns. Write Gary S. Meyers & Associates, Ltd., 20 W. Hubbard, Chicago, IL 60610.

Small investors shouldn't rely on their brother- in-law for stock market investment tips any more than they should use him as a personal banker.

This week The Meyers Report launches an ongoing series of stock market picks to help the small investor win the battle of Wall Street. The program will profile individual stocks listed on recommended "buy lists" at some of the nation's top brokerage houses.

Not every stock pick will meet your financial objectives or your capacity for risk. So before you lay down your cash, read this advisory on stocks picked by our "Professional Brokerage Board". There may be one that's just right for you.

This week's Top Stock Picks come from Charles Fahy, investment expert with the Houston office of Oppenheimer & Co. Inc. In future weeks, some of America's top investment experts will contribute their selections and advice to this exclusive series.

Here are some of Fahy's picks. PEPSICO, INC. Suitable for: Conservative investors seeking safe, long term returns for retirement.

Company discription: Best known for Pepsi Cola, this diversified multinational firm also owns Frito Lay, Pizza Hut, Taco Bell, and is acquiring Kentucky Fried Chicken. About half of Pepsico's earnings are from Frito Lay, 30 percent from restaurants, and 20 percent from soft drinks.

What moves the stock: Its 24 percent return on equity historically has caused this stock to trade at a higher price-to-earnings ratio. The new tax law will benefit earnings an additional 10 to 12 percent and a strong cash flow should allow for additional increases.

Performance: Currently, Pepsico is trading in the $27 range. "Pepsico is a steady climber with no surprises, and that adds up to security for an investor who can't afford a risk," said Fahy.

Pepsico's reported a 12 percent increase in profits during the third quarter.

Forcast: This stock could return to its yearly high of $35.50, and possibly go beyond in the long term.

CLARK EQUIPMENT

Suitable for: Moderate-risk, long-term investors.

Company discription: Clark equipment manufactures lift trucks, axles/transmissions and construction machinery. The company also owns Clark/Credit Insurance subsidiaries. The stated book value is $27, but its asset value is estimated to be between $30 and $43 per share. However, this is not an earnings story, but an asset play because the company pays no dividends.

What moves the stock: The company is restructuring and buying back its stock. This stock may have more than $16 a share in cash plus assets worth $15 to $25 a share within 12 months.

Performance: Currently the stock is trading in the $19 to $20 range. Over the past five years the price has fluctuated between a high of $39 and a low of $16. "Earnings have been non-existent for over two years," Fahy said.

Forcast: The restructuring should move the stock price closer to its midpoint of breakup value ($36). (Breakup value is a range of the company's dollar value if it were to sell off its assets).

OWENS-CORNING FIBERGLASS

Suitable for: Aggressive investors seeking short term returns.

Company discription: Owens-Corning is the world's largest manufacturer of fiberglass. The company is financially restructuring to avoid a takeover. There is a 95 percent probability that the restructuring will be completed as announced. But, don't look to this company for earnings.

What moves the stock: Through outside financing against its assets, Owens-Corning is buying back shares from stockholders. For each share, sellers will receive $52 cash, $16 in the form of a bond, plus one new share of stock which will be worth an estimated $12 to $14 in approximately two months.

Performance: "Owens-Corning has traditionally shown slow and steady growth in earnings, but while the company restructures itself, there's the possibility of quick profit for investors,"said Fahy. Owens-Corning just reported a $58.4 million net loss for the third quarter due to a $200 million pre-tax write-off as part of the restructuring.

Forcast: Simple addition shows that any stock purchased during the restructuring will be worth $80 to $82 per share six months down the road. Based on the Sept.26 price of $77.50 it's a profit that would take a mone market account a full year to earn.

Offer Cheaper Alternative For Directory Assistance

Businesses throughout Illinois could reduce their directory assistance bills by 20 percent or more with a 24-hour direct link to directory assistance listings proposed Oct.21 by Illinois Bell.

The service, called Directory Express, was introduced in 1985 and currently is available only to customers in the Chicago metropolitan area between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. daily. Under Illinois Bell's plan filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission, Directory Express will be available to all Illinois Bell customers throughout the state on a 24-hour basis.

The service enables high-volume directory assistance customers to use their own computers to obtain telephone customers' names, addresses or telephone numbers. Such high-volume users include retail stores, marketing firms, banks and credit companies.

"Instead of contacting us to get the information, customers can now do it themselves and reduce their directory assistance bills by 20 percent or more---depending on how often they use the service," said Mary Foley, Illinois Bell product manager.

According to Foley, customers making at least 500 calls to directory assistance per month could save 30 percent or more with Directory Express. The service is easy to use, requires minimal training and usually needs no additional computer equipment.

To use the service, Directory Express customers must first enter a special code number and password which they are assigned. They then can get directory assistance information by entering a person's name or telephone number.

The desired information can be displayed on a video display terminal. A printed copy of the information can be obtained if a user has a printer.

"If you know the phone number," Foley said, "you can get a customer's name and address. If you know the name, you can find out the address and phone number."

Non-published numbers or numbers outside the customer's home area code are not provided.

Directory Express provides quicker access to the most current and complete listing of names, addresses and telephone information within a customer's area code. Foley said listings are updated daily, resulting in a higher rate of listings found.

The service's cost depends on the frequency and manner in which the service is used.

The minimum monthly charge is $50, which covers the first five hours of usage. Beyond five hours, each additional minute is charged 14 cents each. Users are also charged five cents per screen each time they complete a search using a telephone number, or eight cents per screen each time they complete a search using a name.

Also, there is a one-time fee of $150 for an identification number, password, operations manual and training class.

If the ICC approves Illinois Bell's proposal, Directory Express will be expanded December 6.

St. Therese Opens New Psychiatric Care Unit

Saint Therese Medical Center in Waukegan announced the opening of its new Adolescent Psychiatric Unit.

The unit, which is under the medical direction of John K. Larson, M.D., is designed to serve all area young people from ages 13-18 who are in need of psychiatric hospitalization.

Special features of the new program include thorough assessments and diagnostic work-ups on each patient to determine his physical, psychological, social and family health status. Included in that work-up is a complete physical examination, neurological examination, psycho-social history, family history and various laborotory tests.

The program also includes family and patient involvement from the time of admission through aftercare planning.

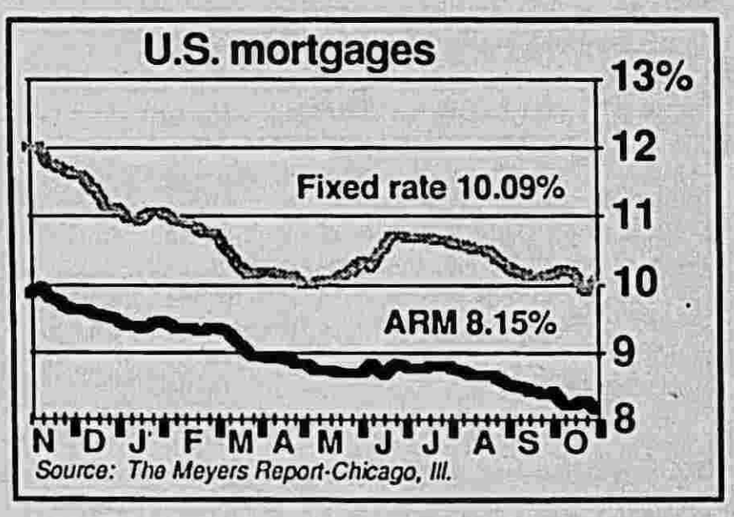

"Depression or the inability to function at home, school, work or in the community may be signs of the need for this type of treatment. Our unit provides a comprehensive care program from thorough assessment and diagnostic services, crisis intervention and stabilization, to planning for aftercare treatment programs," he said.

Larson added that other symptoms leading to this type of treatment include withdrawing from usual activities and social relationships, suicidal or self-destructive behavior, becoming increasingly hostile, and having difficulty with alcohol or substance abuse.

The Adolescent Psychiatric Unit healthcare team consists of specialists from many different healthcare areas. Steve Peters, Psy. D.,is the progeam director, while Anne Barrows is the psychiatric nurse manager. Social worker Sandy Coupar, teacher Mary Ellen Smith, and occupational therapist Wendy Wendt are there to assist each patient to learn to value himself as a person of worth, gain control of impulsive behavior, learn problem-solving skills, and learn to set and attain reasonable, constructive goals.

The unit currently accommodates 10 patients, and the medical center plans to expand the unit Jan. 1, 1987 to make room for 18 patients.

For more information on Saint Therese's Adolescent Psychiatric Unit, call (312)360-2720.

McClure Forms New Industrial Group

McClure Engineering Associates has announced the formation of a new Industrial Facilities Group to provide engineering services for industry.

In addition to plant engineering, the new group specializes in electrical control design for retrofitting machine tools.

The Industrial Facilities Group will also engineer and oversee the relocation of plant facilities.

Heading up the new division is Robert M. Larson with over 20 years experience in plant engineering and power distribution. Larson's most recent experience has been with Case International.

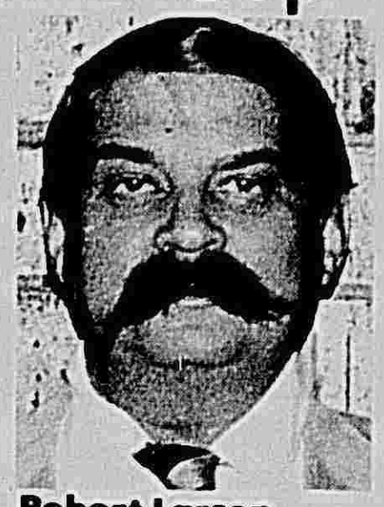

McClure Engineering has a 20 year tradition of municipal planning and engineering, with offices in East Moline, Waukegan, Macomb, Rockford and Davenport.

Expansion by McClure Engineering into the industrial sector with the Industrial Facilities Group, compliments their existing civil engineering services.

William McClure, founder, is a native of Gurnee and a former resident of Grayslake, where he was village engineer.

Recognize CLC Tech Advisors

Ken Paterson and Michael McEvoy, members of the College of Lake County's High Tech Advisory Committee, were recognized by the Illinois Council on Vocational Education for their outstanding contributions to the nation's vocational education system.

The awards, in the category of Outstanding Contribution to Vocational Education by an Advisory Council Member, were presented at the annual Illinois Vocational Ass. convention in Springfield on Oct. 1-3.

Paterson, manager of Central Engineering Services at Motorola, Inc. in Schaumburg and McEvoy, CAD/CAM manager at Travenol Laboratories in Round Lake, assisted the college in setting up curriculum in computer aided design. They also helped CLC acquire donations of automated equipment from national and local manufacturers. As a result of their efforts and a $300,000 investment by CLC, the college has a totally automated small factory worth $5 million.

By advising CLC on work force trends and developments, Paterson and McEvoy assisted the college in developing long range educational strategies.

In his letter of commendation to Paterson and McEvoy, Gov. James Thompson stated: "Vocational education plays a vital part in our state's economic development plans. your dedication and commitment to making the Illinois work force capable and successful is most appreciated and essential to our state's growth and economy."

Perfection Is Last Goal For Playoff-Bound Grant

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

The phone call Grant football fans have been waiting 11 years for will be answered at Mike Rogowski's home at about midnight Nov. 2.

That's when the Illinois High School Assn. should complete its task of assigning playoff teams.

But before the call, there is a certain task facing the Bulldogs.

It is beating 1-7 Grayslake and finishing the season undefeated Friday, Oct. 31. Kickoff is at 8 p.m.

"Finishing 9-0 and getting into the playoffs is something we've dreamed of since July," Grant's top gun, tailback Kevin Frystak said.

Frystak helped the Bulldogs broke open a close game against Marengo in the second half last week. Marengo played the host Bulldogs to a 0-0 tie at halftime before Grant came out and scored 20 second-half points for a 20-0 win, Grant's eighth straight this fall.

Kevin Frystak, along with brother Brad, earned plaudits from Rogowski.

"Our offense is built around the two Frystaks. Sometimes it's the defense then the two Frystaks, other times it is the Frystaks and the two defenses," Rogowski said.

Kevin Frystak, a flashy junior runner, entered the game with 617 rushing and 10 touchdowns. He left his trademark early in the second half with a 76-yard touchdown run down the left sideline after reading blocks well. The extra point made it 7-0, all that Grant really needed.

Kevin Frystak's second TD was a bit more conventional. The two-yard run upped the lead to 13-0 with 7:21 left in the game. The third score came on a three-yard toss from quarterback Garry Glauser to Mike McDonald five minutes later.

As far as Brad Frystak is concerned, the victory on this cold and rainy night was made possible during the hot days of August.

"Sure, we got tired," he said of three-a-day workouts. "But this is where it all pays off. You could tell they were tired out there in the second half."

In the first half, it was Grant's defense that kept it close.

Marengo, with a possible playoff berth for themselves at stake, had the advantage at the line early as the Indians outweighed the Bulldgos by more than 50 pounds a man.

"It doesn't matter how big you are if you are quick off the ball," Brad Frystak said.

The slippery track proved to be a factor on the game's first play as Marengo fumbled on its first play from scrimmage. Grant marched to the Marengo five, but then fumbled the ball back to the Indians.

Grant's defense best show of the night came early in the second quarter.

Marengo drove the ball from its own two to the Grant 32.

But on a fourth and four, Glauser knocked down a Kevin Shelton pass. While the Indians' power offense had used more than eight minutes of the quarter, it could not score.

Shelton did not last long after that.

Bob Foster, a defensive end, put the quarterback out of commission on a ferocious but clean hit at the end of the first half. Shelton, who may now just be waking up from the hit, simply did not have a chance.

"That was a great, clean hit. I hope Shelton is OK, because he is a class kid," Rogowski said.

In Grayslake, Grant's defense will get to face an offense which had gone into last week's game averaging a field goal per game.

The Rams offensive production feel further in a 7-0 Homecoming loss to rival Round Lake.

During the week, a sign was posted on the wall of Rogowski's office. It asked the Bulldogs if they wish to be co-champs or champions of the Northwest Suburban Conference.

This week, the question is, do the Bulldogs wish to be going into post-season play 8-1 or 9-0.

Warren Seeks To Nail Down Playoff Bid In Finale

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Most sports teams come up with slogans or clever motivational phrases.

For Warren Twp. High School's football team, "Remember North Chicago" is the team's battle cry.

The Blue Devils, way back in week three of the season, came off a win over Libertyville only to lose to the Warhawks.

"After North Chicago, these kids will not take Fenton lightly," Warren coach Reggie Hughes said.

Following a 14-9 thrilling victory over Stevenson last week, Fenton is Warren's last hurdle before a 6-3 record. That would give the Blue Devils at least a good chance for, if not certain, playoff berth.

Warren's Homecoming on Saturday, Nov. 1, is Lakeland Newspapers' Game of the Week.

"We'll be there," Hughes said confidently of the playoffs.

With the way the Blue Devils have been playing lately, who could blame the Warren coaching staff for making post-season plans.

The win over Stevenson was Warren's fourth straight. From 1-3 to 5-3. That's progress.

Game Of The Week

"It would be a very nice reward for our kids to get into the playoffs. They have worked hard all year," Hughes said.

Against the Patriots, it took the execution of two fourth-down plays and a clutch interception of the Stevenson quarterback in Warren's end zone to secure the emotional victory.

Warren trailed 9-7 with about four minutes left and the ball at the Stevenson 30. Quarterback Derek Shelton found Sam Diamantopoulos open on a crossing pattern to give the visitors new life at the Stevenson 22.

Three plays later, Warren faced another fourth-down situation, this time needing two yards at the Stevenson 13.

Shelton, on an audible, ran for three yards himself up the middle for a Warren first down. Three plays later, Mike Wagner scored from two yards out and Warren led 14-9 with 1:33 left.

Did Hughes consider a field goal in either the situations?

"I considered it on the first one. On the second one, I went out there and said, 'this is it'. Shelton made a gutsey call for a junior. He saw the middle was open and audibled at the line of scrimmage," Hughes said.

Stevenson drove all the way to the Warren 14 yard line behind the crisp passing of Craig Robertshaw.

But a heavy Warren rush forced the qb, who went over the 1,000 yard mark in passing, to throw to a covered receiver.

Brian Lochman, a Warren defensive back, dove in front of the would be receiver, catching the ball, and Warren's victory was secure.

The Warren secondary had been tested all game on this cold and dreary day.

"Our defense bends but does not break. Kim Cummings does a great job with the defensive line in making blocking adjustments and Tony Flippo does a great job with the secondary. There was no doubt, coming in, that their receivers were better than our defensive backs," Hughes said.

'Devils Second In Loop Meet

Although Libertyville won the North Suburban Conference volleyball tournament as expected, both Warren and Antioch came away with momentum for this week's regional tournament.

"I told the kids before the season started that we would take some losses early, but hopefully we would come around by the tournament," Warren coach Chris Woodard said.

The Blue Devils came into the NSC meet seeded seventh and with a 10-16 record. Warren lost to Libertyville for the league title but ended at 14-17 and tied for fourth in the league's final standings.

Antioch, finished third, increasing its record to 12-13.

"We're peaking at the right time," Antioch coach Carla Thompson said.

Warren beat Niles North in the opener 16-14, 15-7. The Blue Devils then upset Zion-Benton 15-11, 14-16, 15-5. Warren then beat Fenton to reach the final against the Wildcats.

Regional final games are set for Thursday, Oct. 30 for area teams. Sites are the Libertyville, Zion and Round Lake regionals. Wauconda and Johnsburg compete at the Johnsburg regional. Johnsburg's semi-final round games are for Oct. 30 with the final games Nov. 1.

Post-Season Brings OutBest In Spikers, Runners

by JOHN PHELPS

The College of Lake County started a fine post-season last week when the mens soccer team moved one step closer to the national tournament when the Lancers shutout visiting Sauk Valley 1-0.

In this first round game of the Region IV tourney, Lake County appeared tentative most of the first half. Derek Bromstead broke the ice for CLC when he put in the game's only goal late in the first half. Bromstead was assisted on the play by Javier Lopez.

The score sparked the Lancers for the duration of the game. CLC dominated defeinsively behind some beatiful saves by goalie John Susman and keeping the ball at Sauk Valley's end of the field a majority of the second half.

"We started out tentively, but after Derek's goal, the team settled down. Several players played outstanding defense, especially Bobby Cuevas, Jeff Miller, Scott Anderson and Greg Oaks. This was obviously a big win for us and we hope to keep it up this week," Lancer coach Dave Beck said after the victory.

CLC takes its 8-5-1 record into second round action on Friday, Oct. 31, when they play either Wright or DuPage.

On the heals of soccer's win, the following day the Lancer cross country team made an excellent showing in the Region IV tournament.

All-Region honors, along with Campbell, were Randy Dawson, 13th with a 29:25 clocking and Kevin Wehde, who finished 14th with a 19:41. Rounding out the mens division was newly acquired Tim Brown, finishing in 24th place in 31:07 and Tom Robb in 26th at 32:06.

"The times were slower because of the rain. Overall, I was really happy with the ladies. We've had a very respectable season so far, as we've met every goal we've set at the start," CLC coach Joel Peebles said.

The runners compete in the Niles West cross country open on Saturday, Nov. 1.

Peebles, for his efforts with the womens team, was awarded Region IV coach of the year honors.

Also on Oct. 25, the CLC volleyball team proved dominant, claiming first place in the Skyway Conference tournament.

The Lady Lancers completed the regular season play with an undefeated 5-0 mark. CLC won the league tournament for the second straight year.

In the tournament, CLC defeated Elgin three games to one.

In the championship match, CLC made quick work of Oakton, beating the Raiders in three games, 15-5, 15-6 and 15-9.

CLC takes its 14-7 overall record into the final regular season match Thursday, Oct. 30 against Joliet. The match begins at 5 p.m. at CLC.

The women's team won its first Region IV championship since 1980, edging out Oakton. The Lancers finished with 22 points, while Oakton had 33. In field composed of only two full teams and several schools represented by individuals, CLC saw all five of its runners finish in the top ten.

Leading the way for Lake County was Deb Duehring, receiving second place with a time of 24:28 on the three-mile course. Duehring claimed a second place All-Region medal with her fine performance. Denise Domanico also claimed All-Region honors, following her third place finish in the tournament. Domanico's time was 25:37. Denise Winkowski received Lake County's final All-Region recognition by finishing fourth in the tournament with a 25:41. Rounding out the Lancer scoring was Denise Cadeau in sixth place with a time of 26:43 and April Van Sickle in seventh place with a time of 27:10.

The mens team made a respectable showing, finishing in third place. DuPage won the meet with 19 points, followed by Oakton with 85, CLC with 87, Waubonsee 92, Harper 129, Wright 134 and Thornton 144.

Individually, Lancer Mike Campbell repeated last year's performance by finishing 10th in the five-mile race, resulting in a national tournament bid. Campbell's time in the 42-member field was 28:40.

Winning Season Possible If Carmel Wins Finale

by JIM BUTSCHLI

The last time Carmel High School's varsity football team posted a winning season, this year's crop was just learning about life without diapers.

A win at home against St. Joseph on Friday, Oct. 31 would put the Corsairs over the hump for the first time since 1972.

Carmel reached the .500 plateau at 4-4 with a solid 17-3 Homecoming victory against Niles Notre Dame and the rain and mud Friday night.

The inclement weather put the clamps on both clubs' passing efforts and the empahsis was on ball control where the larger Corsair lines won the battle of the trenches.

On offense, holes opened up for speedy Donnell Foster (17 carries for 118 yards including a 54-yard explosion off right end); Mike Maciag (10-44) and Kurt Hein (9-26 and a one-yard score).

The statistics revealed the final score, showing Carmel ahead in first downs (14-6); yardage (251-80) and total plays (52-28, unofficially). In addition, Notre Dame was held to five yards in the second half.

"They handled us physically and we couldn't match up against their size," said Notre Dame coach Bruce Donash. "Their offensive line was handling our defensive line and that was the difference, not so much their backs."

Carmel coach Mike Fitzgibbons agreed, and he praised several players in the post-game locker room pep talk. "We had several players who made possible touchdown-saving tackles. You(the players) picked a practice captain this week because you wanted him to be a leader, and the guy (senior defensive back-flanker Mike Graham) intercepts three passes," Fitzgibbons said.

Graham's swiping of Notre Dame qurterback Joe Ainger's aerials were critical to setting up the ball control offense that dominated the game for Carmel.

"We wanted to contain Ainger and our guys did a nice job of doing that," said the proud coach. "Our guys can feel real good right now. You know what - you're one helluva football team."

Notre Dame's Dons started the scoring, aided by penalties which kept the team moving downfield. Dave Fitzpatrick kicked a 23-yard field goal with 4:26 left in the first quarter for the 3-0 visitors' lead.

Following a Don punt, Carmel scored on its first play when Foster followed his line and dashed around right end for an electrifying score. Art Bustamonte's point after attempt made it 7-3 Corsairs, ending the first half scoring.

With 7:25 left in the third quarter, the Corsairs scored again. A 22-yard punt retrun by workhorse Foster gave Carmel a first down at the Don 33. The running attack pounded its way through the rain and Hein hit paydirt from a yard out. The PAT made it 14-3.

By this point the Dons needed to go to a passing attack but the rain and the Corsair defense subdued Ainger's strong arm tactics. Bustamante split the uprights for a 32-yard field goal to conclude the scoring with 3:10 left.

A Graham pickoff thwarted Notre Dame's last ditch efforts and the Homecoming fans that stayed through the rain went home with hopes of a winning season.

Carmel is now 2-4 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference.

Of St. Joseph, Fitzgibbons said, "they've won some ball games and have great speed and great talent."

For Notre Dame, the opponent will be Holy Cross (victims of a 42-20 thrashing by Carmel two weeks ago).

Winning Seasons On Line

Three Northwest Suburban Conference football teams have an opportunity to finish with a winning season.

Two will make it.

Round Lake, Johnsburg and Marengo, are all 4-4 overall going into their season finales. In league play, Round Lake and Johnsburg have the edge in the battle for third place as the Panthers and the Skyhawks come in at 3-3, while the Indians are a game behind at 2-4.

"Finishing with a winning record would be great for our seniors because it would be the second year in a row and show the kind of charachter they have," Round Lake coach Mike Dunn said.

The Panthers, last year's conference champions, host Lake Zurich in an 8 p.m. game Friday, Oct. 31. Johnsburg squares off at home against the Indians in a 1 p.m. start on Saturday, Nov. 1.

Round Lake coach Dunn has vivid memories of a 6-3 loss to Lake Zurich in the final game of the 1985 season. The game cost the Panthers the NWSC title outright.

"It's been a heckuva long time since Round Lake has defeated Lake Zurich. We're anxious to play them," Dunn said.

The Panthers are coming off a 7-0 shutout of Grayslake. The win marks Round Lake's second straight shutout.

"We beat a scrappy team. They played very well," Dunn said.

Round Lake quarterback Walter Tesch completed 45 of his 53 yards passing on a touchdown pass to Chuck Banker in the first quarter. Although the Panthers had two more touchdowns called back because of penalties and Grayslake one, that's where the scoring ended.

"It was a typical Round Lake-Grayslake affair. It's a knock 'em down, drag it out game," Dunn said.

Poor field positions dicated play.

Dunn had high praise for Banker, who finished with 89 yards in 16 carries.

"It was Chuck's best overall game," Dunn said.

Punter Damon Horn earned similar plaudits.

In Lake Zurich, Round Lake will be facing an improving Bears team. The Bears improved their record to 2-6 overall, 2-4 in league play, with a 20-0 win over Wauconda last week.

"They throw the ball a lot and play an eight-man front. We've got to get on the scoreboard early and control the ball," Dunn said.

Lake Zurich took advantage of Wauconda errors to post a 13-0 lead after three quarters.

Wauconda coach Fred Loffredo, whose team fell to 1-5 in league play, 1-7 overall, said the defense did a good job.

Todd Marlowe had 14 tackles while Dan Torres had eight.

"The defense has been a strong suit all year," Loffredo said.

Wismer Advances

Grayslake cross country runner Carl Wismer advanced from regionals to sectionals.

Wismer ran a 16:37 over a five-mile course at the McHenry regional. He competes in the Niles North sectional on Saturday, Nov. 1.

Wismer was the only Grayslake runner to advance.

Sequoits, Warhawks Aim To Finish With Four Wins

Finishing 4-5 may not seem like much, but for Antioch and North Chicago's football teams, a win in this week's finale would mean quite a boost to end the season with.

And to do that, the Sequoits and the Warhawks would have to knock off two teams in the upper rent district of the North Suburban Conference.

Antioch faces Niles North while North Chicago faces Lake Forest in home games for both teams on Saturday, Nov. 1. Kickoff is 2 p.m. for each game.

"They've got a tremendous offensive machine. neThey've got an outstanding passing game, running game and play great defense," Antioch coach Steve Wapon said of Niles North.

The Vikings come into the contest with a 7-1 record and in first place of the NSC.

Antioch is coming off a strong defensive performance in a 14-0 win over Fenton. The Homecoming shutout was Antioch's first of the season.

The weather conditions dictated strategy as much as anything at Antioch. The contest followed last week's NSC form, as no league team scored 20 points in winning.

"The conditions shut everybody down," Wapon said.

Everybody, that is, except the Antioch defense.

Antioch picked off Fenton's quarterback three times - one each by Scott Gooch, Dave Battaglia and John Payne. Mike Goldine recovered a Fenton fumble.

But the creditentials do not stop there. Antioch held Fenton to three plays within its side of the 50. Also, the Bison managed just 65 total yards against the Seqoits.

Offensively, the hosts did not get on track until the second half.

"We were a little sparadic in the first half. But we had excellent field position," Wapon said.

David Wick opened the scoring for Antioch with a 10-yard run with 3:12 left in the third quarter. Gooch added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Wick led the Antioch ground game with 89 yards in 20 carries. Hannigan had 39 yards in 14 tries.

Should North Chicago upset Lake Forest at home, the victory could be significant for the future of the football program. Coach Bob Brothman won just one game last year - by forfiet - and this year have already won three times.

The latest was a 14-6 win over Mundelein last week.

North Chicago's touchdowns were scored by Corrie Franklin and Anthony Conley.

Conley's touchdown and a safety gave the hosts an 8-0 lead.

Mundelein closed the gap to 8-6 on a 20-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Mike Lech to Jeff Geary.

North Chicago's second touchdown gave the hosts some breathing room in the fourth quarter.

Mundelein was banged up with injuries, as three Mustang signal callers and tailbacks were hurt to one degree or another.

"I saw more injuries Saturday than I did in five years," Mundelein coach Gary Heifner said.

Heifner said starting quarterback Jim Frank is definitely out for the rest of the season, and is not sure who will start against Stevenson.

Brothman said the key to his team's finishing on a winning note will be the play of the North Chicago offense.

"The key will be if we are able to move the ball against them," Brothman said.

The North Chicago secondary turned in a fine performance against Mundelein, picking off five Mundelein passes.

Jazz Benefit For Symphony

An evening of classic jazz will be presented on Sunday, Nov. 9 to benefit the Lake Forest Symphony. Featured will be Don Shelton and Friends, Ears, Chicago Symphony guests Dale Clevenger and Larry Combs, the Hi-Lo's, and Richard Manners conducting his "Concerto for Jazz Septet and Orchestra." The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Drake Theatre, 700 E. Westleigh Rd., Lake Forest. An informal champagne reception will follow. Patron tickets are $75 each, other tickets are $50, and are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. For more information call (312)295-2135.

New St. Mary's To Host Open House

The University of St. Mary of the Lake will host an Open House on Sunday, Nov.2 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on the university campus in Mundelein. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Joseph Cardinal Bernardin, Archbishop of Chicago, recently restructured St. Mary of the Lake to highlight its status as a university inclusive of Mundelein Seminary and the Center for Development in Ministry. The Open House celebrates this development of the university.

Visiitors to the Open House will have the opportunity to view the nearly 800 acres of university property, to experience something of the life of seminary students, to view the university chapel and museum and to visit the newly established Center for Development in Ministry which has as its primary focus the ongoing development of men and women currently involved in ministry.

Welcome between 2 and 5 p.m., guests of the university will be treated to entertainment by the seminarians and to refreshments in the university dining hall.

On Dec. 19, 1844, Bishop Quarter received the State Charter to begin the University of St. Mary of the Lake. At that time it was located at Madison and Michigan Aves. in Chicago right next to Lake Michigan. Cardinal Mundelein instituted the university in Lake County. Lake Eara was renamed St. Mary's Lake.

In 1926 when the Eucharistic Congress was held at the seminary, Cardinal Mundelein hosted a half million visitors. That same year, in his honor, the village of Area was renamed Mundelein.

Last year Cardinal Bernardin expanded the campus of the University to include Mundelein Seminary and the Center for Development in Ministry, expressing a commitment to the university by the Archdiocese of Chicago.

The Reverend Gerald F. Kicanas is the current president and rector of the University. Reverend John F. Canary is vice-president and seminary vice-rector. Reverend Wayne F. Prist is vice-president and Director of the Center for Development in Ministry.

Drop Greedy Dixon, Vote For Koehler

Commentary

By JOHN STEINKE

I'm going to be the lonliest voter casting a ballot at the Lindenhurst civic center on Tuesday, Nov. 4. I will probably be the only Lake County resident to record a vote for Judy Koehler for U.S. Senator. Her opponent is Democratic incumbent Alan J. Zero...I mean Dixon.

Senator Dixon has made a career out of kissing babies, kissing bottoms and keeping his mouth shut. "Al the Pal" is the most successful vote-getter in Illinois history. Since he entered politics in 1948 by winning election as Belleville police magistrate, his won-loss record is 28-0. Dixon has been widely-known because he has been in public office for years: 12 as a state representative, 8 as a state senator, 6 as state treasurer, 4 as secretary of state and 6 as U.S. Senator. When Dixon ran for the U.S. Senate in 1980, he crushed his GOP opponent, David C. O'Neal, by a 619,006-vote margin.

Politicians are motivated by ambition, greed or power. In Dixon's case, it is greed. Now don't misunderstand me, Dixon ain't stealing.

Pudgy Al won't be running and puffing into the Dirksen Building with a Paul Powell bag over his head to avoid reporters. But he uses his public office to fill his bottomless pockets with "legitimate" monies. During an interview with Lakeland Newspapers, Dixon observed, "I just made the cutoff for millionaires in the Senate." It's understandable because Dixon has been feeding off the public trough for 38 years. We'll never have to build a poor home for politicians.

Here are some examples of Dixon's greedy record:

1.Dixon is the Fred Popp of the United States Senate. He receives a $30,000 state pension along with a $75,000 federal salary. "Al the Pal" is a "double-dipper." On the other hand, Judy Koehler launched her political career in 1978 by campaigning against a state legislative pay raise. Every year, State Rep. Judy Koehler of McHenry turns back $8,000 a year to the state treasury instead of accepting the pay raise. No wonder the politicians in both parties hate her guts. They grab for the gold while Koehler returns money to the taxpayers.

2.From 1981 through 1984, "Greedy Al" collected $95,703 in lecture fees. At times, he neglected his senatorial duties in order to fulfill his lucrative speaking engagements. On Nov. 7, 1983, Dixon addressed the Peanut Butter and Nut Processors Institute in Phoenix, Arizona, for a $2,000 fee. On the same day, the U.S. Senate voted on the MX missile, nuclear submarines and arms limitation issues. Dixon placed his personal greed ahead of our national defense to supplement his $75,000 salary with a lecture fee. I'm surprised that Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev didn't make Dixon an honorary member of the Red Army. Alan J. Dixon's 1986 campaign slogan should have been: "PEANUT BUTTER, NOT WEAPONS, WILL STOP THOSE COMMIE-PINKOS."

Who do you want as a Senator: an honorable woman or a greedy politician? Vote for Judy Koehler not "Al the Pal." Do you know that only two out of 100 senators are women? We need more Judy Koehlers in Washington. Let's keep the boys honest.

Offer Diabetes Screening

Victory Memorial Hospital will sponsor free diabetes screenings during National Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 10-14, at three different locations in northern Lake County.

Appointments for all three locations can be scheduled beginning Oct. 31. Instructions will be given to individuals when they schedule their appointment.

Locations and times are:

--Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. Appointments will be offered Monday, Nov. 10 through Friday, Nov. 14 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Call the hospital's laboratory at (312)360-4161 weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. to sign up.

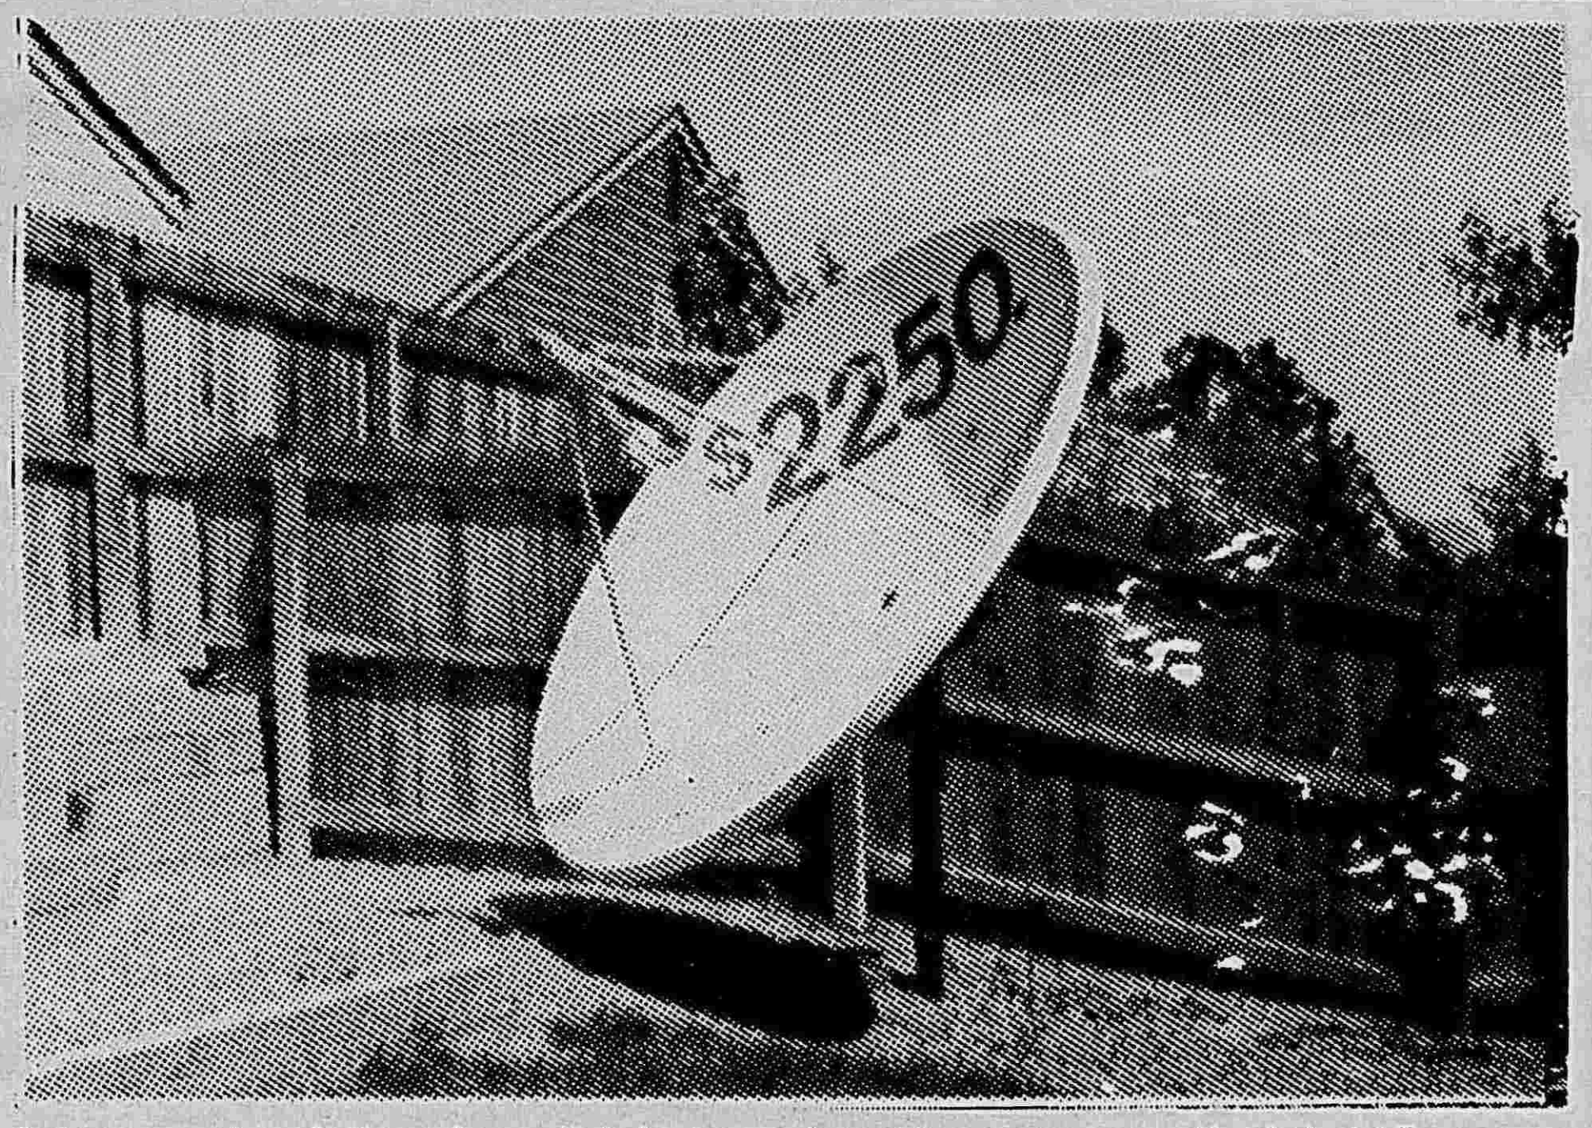

--Victory Immediate Care Center, 3477 Grand Ave., Gurnee. Appointments are offered between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10 through Friday, Nov. 14. Call (312)360-4100.

--Victory Health Outreach Center, 121 E. Grand Ave., Lake Villa. Appointments will be offered here Monday through Thursday, Nov. 10-13, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Call (312)356-5900 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays to schedule.

Noble Pigs

The next time you make jokes about pigs, remember, they have been around 36 million years, and according to Ranger Nick magazine, they are very useful animals. Not only can their meat be eaten and made into bacon but pig skin is used for footballs, saddles, jackets and to treat people with severe burns. Chemicals produced from pigs are used to treat humans who suffer from diabetes, and pig heart valves are used to replace human heart valves.

BUYING A HOME SATELLITE DISH IS COSTLIER THAN YOU THINK

Before you spend your hard earned money on a satellite receive dish you should learn the facts.

This year popular premium services like HBO and Cinemax will begin scrambling their signals with highly sophisticated electronic encryption devices.

And this new technique won't be limited to just premium services. Many basic cable channels like ESPN, MTV and CNN have announced their intentions to scramble signals.

What does this mean for satellite dish owners?

In addition to paying several thousand dollars for the purchase and installation of a receive dish, it will be necessary to spend hundreds of dollars on descrambling equipment plus pay monthly service fees for each channel received.

Make your decision based on the facts.

Steinke Reviews Duties, History Of Local Offices

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, area voters will elect four countywide officials: sheriff, regional superintendent of education, county clerk and county treasurer.

I. REGIONAL SUPT. OF EDUCATION

This office serves as intermediary between the Illinois State Board of Education and local school districts. The position also provides information and advice to school authorities. It also enforces the state school code on health and safety matters. The educational superintendent must possess a master's degree, along with experience in both school administration and teaching.

Regional school superintendent, William Thompson of Antioch, didn't seek reelection after serving 12 years in the office. Sybil Yastrow of Deerfield was Thompson's principal aide for six years. She was the GOP winner of the March 18 primary to succeed Thompson. Yastrow is unopposed in the Nov. 4 contest. No Lake County Democrat has ever been elected to this post.

II. COUNTY TREASURER

This office mails out tax bills, collects payments, invests the taxes temporarily and distributes the tax monies and interest to 220 taxing bodies in Lake County. Republican incumbent Jack "Red" Anderson is considered a shoo-in for a third-term over Democrat Robert Flannery. No area Democrat has ever been elected to this office.

III. COUNTY CLERK

The county clerk administers all elections and political affairs, including the disclosure of campaign expenditures and the filing of economic interest statements. The office is concerned with tax extensions from levies determined by the county's taxing bodies. The county clerk also maintains vital records, including birth and death certificates and marriage licenses. Finally, the clerk records the minutes of the Lake County Board meetings.

For the past four elections, the Democrats have captured the county clerk's office despite the area's Republican propensity. Democratic incumbent Linda Hess is seeking reelection to a second-term over Republican Donna-Mae Litwiler. Hess is the only Democrat occupying countywide office. A Litwiler victory will guarantee the Republicans total domination of county government for the first time in 20 years.

IV. SHERIFF

The sheriff is the chief law enforcement official. He is responsible for policing the county's unincorporated areas. The office also administers the jail facilities. It can provide assistance to local police departments. In the last 132 years, Lake County has only elected two Democratic sheriffs: Al Conrad in 1890, and E.J. "Chick" LaMagdeleine in 1974. Currently, LaMagdeleine is a chief deputy in the sheriff's department.

Republican Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox is seeking reelection to a second term. His Democratic opponent is Sander P. Stagman of Highland Park. Despite Stagman's aggressive campaign, Babcox is favored in the election. Sheriff Babcox is Lake County's GOP political boss. Besides his own reelection campaign, Babcox is supporting Donna-Mae Litwiler's election in order to win control of the county's political machinery.

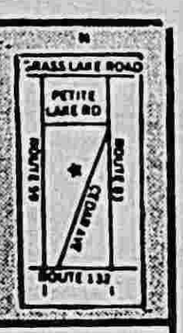

Listening To Voters

Bernard Carey, the Republicans' candidate for Illinois Atty. General, listens to voters' concerns at a campain stop in Waukegan. Carey said he would return the office to the respect it once enjoyed. Carey, who served for two terms as Cook County States Atty. is running against incumbent Neil Hartigan. — Photo by Steve Peterson

VOTE YES!! PUNCH 15 ON YOUR BALLOT AND SHOW YOUR SUPPORT OF VETERANS ORGANIZATIONS IN YOUR COMMUNITY.

Veteran's organizations are valuable assets to communities throughout the State of Illinois. Unfortunately, monetary difficulties threaten the continued existence of the State's veterans' organizations. Over the past few years, approximately one-half of the veterans' post homes in Illinois have closed their doors due to rising costs.

The groups annually conduct numerous activities to honor American war heroes. They provide aid to indigent veterans and their families, support homes for veterans and their children, and annually decorate the graves of thousands of American Veterans. In addition, veterans' organizations provide educational and summer-camp scholarships for children, donate medical equipment to hospitals, sponsor athletic programs, and promote the scouting movement. In short, through their facilities and services, these organizations have become an important part of local communities throughout Illinois.

It must be remembered that many members of these organizations served our country in time of war. They have established post homes and other facilities to continue their service to our country and community in time of peace. Your "yes" vote on this amendment represents one small way of saying "thank you" for the voluntary contributions that these organizations offer.

The loss in revenue incurred by a unit of local government as a result of the exemption from taxation of property used exclusively for veterans organizations shall be reimbursed by the State to the unit of local government.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice Of Intent To Take Action Affecting A Wetland and Notice Of Intent To Take Action Affecting a Floodplain.

Executive Orders 1190 and 11988 Compliance
Water's Edge Apartments
Lake Villa, Illinois
221 (d) 4 Coinsurance
HUD No. 071-36617

The Chicago Regional Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development is considering a proposal for a multi-family residential development that will involve fill in a wetland, Deep Lake. Pursuant to Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, H.U.D. is required to make a determination of "No Practicable Alternative" (to affecting the wetlands) and notify the public of the proposed action prior to participating in such a project. Furthermore, fill is contemplated in the 100-year frequency floodplain of Deep Lake. HUD must make a similar finding with respect to this action to comply with Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management.

The project consists of 108 multi-family residential units in three, three-story structures located just north of Grand Avenue at the far southeastern tip of Deep Lake in Lake Villa, Illinois. The plan contemplates construction of a boat ramp and pier which will involve incidental fill in Deep Lake. In addition, fill will be placed in the lake's 100-year floodplain as part of constructing a road (Water's Edge Drive), parking lot, and a residential (36 unit) structure along the lake. Conpensatory storage and stormwater detention is included in the plan.

HUD's final decision will take into consideration all comments submitted. This determination can range from strict preservation of the wetland and floodplain (i.e., implementation of practicable alternatives) to allowing fill in the wetland and floodplain accompanied by appropriate mitigation. A second notice explaining the action proposed must then be published following these decisions and will invite final comments.

Comments should be sent within 15 days following publication of this to Harry P. Blus, Regional Environmental Officer, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Chicago Regional Office, 547 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois 60606.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE 19TH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT, LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS.
Greatamerican Federal Savings and Loan Association, a corporation organized and existing under laws of the United States of America, Plaintiff, vs.

Edward C. Tiedje, et al., Defendants
No. 86 Ch-406.

The requisite affidavit for publication having been filed, notice is hereby given you, Jack C. Davis; Jack C. Davis, as trustee in trust deed recorded as document no. 2331897; and Unknown Owners, defendant(s) in the above entitled suit, that the said suit has been commenced in the Circuit Court of Lake County, Chancery Division, by the said plaintiff—against you and other defendants, praying for the foreclosure of a certain (Mortgage) conveying the premises described as follows, to-wit:
Lot 3 in Smart's Ridgemoor Manor, being a Subdivision of part of Section 7, Township 46 North, Range 10 East of the Third Principal Meridian, according to the Plat thereof, recorded December 15, 1958, as Document No. 1014119, in Book 34 of Plats, page 94, in Lake County, Illinois, commonly known as 24452 West Highview, Antioch, Illinois. and which said (Mortgage) was made by Edward C. Tiedje and Julie E. Tiedje, his wife, Mortgagors, to Greatamerican Federal Savings and Loan Association, as (Mortgagee), and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of Lake County, Illinois, as document number 2323843, and for other relief; that summons was duly issued out of the said Court against you as provided by law, and that the said suit is now pending.

Now, therefore, unless you, the said above named defendant(s), file your answer to the Complaint in the said suit or otherwise make your appearance therein, in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Lake County, in the Lake County Courthouse, Waukegan, Illinois, on or before the 24th day of November, 1986, default may be entered against you at any time after that day and a Judgment entered in accordance with the prayer of said Complaint.

Dated, Waukegan, Illinois, October 23rd, 1986.

Vice Is Nice

A collection of tuxedoes inspired by the tv hit "Miami Vice" is available in hot pastel colors for coordination with today's colorful bridesmaids' gowns.

Tuxedo Strong On 100th Birthday

The tuxedo was "born" at the first Autumn Ball in October, 1886, when young Griswold Lorillard, son of Pierre V., wore the tailless dress coat to this grand ball of the societal resort area of Tuxedo Park, N.Y.

At this time, Tuxedo Park, 40 miles northwest of New York City, overlooking Tuxedo Lake, was an elite hunting and fishing resort, known as the millionaire's haven.

Lorillard, the fashion maverick, shockvd the society circle, when he sported the tailless coat to the Tuxedo Park Club's white-tie-and-tails Autumn Ball.

There are tales that the coat worn by Griswold (Grizzy for short) was designed by his father and was a scarlet satin-lapeled affair which was tailored, if not tailed, along the lines of the pink coats worn by hunters riding to hounds.

The tuxedo was not an instant success, yet it was not without its admirers. Traditionalists adopted a condescending attitude toward the innovation, regarding it as semi-formal evening attire.

The tuxedo came in two styles: with a shawl collar and satin-faced lapels, and with peaked lapels.

Wedding Expo '87 Gives Bridal Tips

The Second Annual Wedding Expo '87, sponsored by Debbie's Floral and Lakeland Newspapers will be held Jan. 18 at the Holiday Inn, Gurnee.

The all-day event will include gowns by Milady's Specialty Shops and a wide selection of tuxedos from Henry's Formalwear. Entertainment will be provided by the Lake Street Dancers.

For the honeymoon — a modelling of sportwear fashions will be held at the poolside. For those who are yet undecided about choosing a photographer, where to get wedding invitations, or want to have their wedding on videotape, the Wedding Expo provides the ideal opportunity to meet these needs.

Over 30 specialty firms will be available to offer ideas and information vital to planning a wedding. Don't miss this opportunity.

Also included in the Wedding Expo package is a brunch in the Holiday Inn. For information, call Debbie Mullen at Debbie's Floral, (312) 949-4454.

Marrying Later Means Better Honeymoon

by CINDY KUJAK

When a couple plans a wedding, there are many decisions to be made. One of the most important things to decide is the honeymoon destination.

According to Judy at the Barnloft East Travel Agency in Gurnee, Hawaii is their biggest seller. She remembers arranging a Hawaiian wedding, complete with minister and dinner, on a cliff overlooking the beach.

Judy says the trend over the past couple of years is toward more expensive wedding trips, partly because it's a time the couple will always remember. Another reason for extravagance--many couples are marrying later. They've saved enough money, have better jobs, and are in a position where they can afford the luxury.

Even videos and still photographers can be incorporated into the honeymoon package.

Next to Hawaii, Florida seems to be a favorite with newlyweds. It's much more economical than the Hawaiian alternative, yet has the sun and the sandy beaches.

The travel agent said the price range of honeymoons is $299 per person for an economical venture, to $1,500 per person for real extravagance.

Carribean cruises are often requested, and some couples opt for the Poconos in Pennsylvania, where honeymoon resorts abound, complete with heart-shaped tubs and heart-shaped beds. Las Vegas trips are still popular, as well.

Honeymooners don't seem to go for the exotic. According to the travel agents contacted, the most unusual expeditions involved scuba diving in the Caymen Islands and mountain climbing in the Rockies.

Debbie at Travelcentre in Wauconda, suggests booking as far in advance as possible for the best deals. She says lots of couples who come into the agency are undecided about where to go. They usually pick up brochures and think about it for a while before making a final decision.

Travel agencies can arrange just about anything newlyweds want in a honeymoon trip. Normally a deposit is required at the time of booking, with the balance due 45 to 60 days before the couple leparts. Of course there's always the credit card to temporarily relieve the financial situation.

Bridal Stockings
Delicately appliqued bells add romantic touch to silken sheer pantyhose. They are especially attractive when worn with waltz length gowns.

Magnificent Aristry
A molded princess gown of point d'esprit lace, with bejeweled alencon lace flowers combined with satin and silk appliques show the designer's fine artistry.

Changes Occur In Wedding Ceremonies

"If there are any people here who object to this uninon, may they speak now or forever hold their peace".

Those words, Harry Clark, Pastor of the Gurnee Community Church, said, are no longer part of hi s services.

"The biggest change in the 20 years I have been performing weddings is the modernization of language. We've taken out the thees and thous," Clark said.

Clark said his wedding season basically runs from March through October.

"It slacks off in November and December," he said.

Clark conducts a Presbyterian based ceremony. Most of his services have been fairly ordinary.

Father Don Ulatowski of St. Gilbert's Church in Grayslake said he has seen unsual weddings outside but not inside.

"Outside I've seen weddings with model T's, trailers and carriages. Inside, things don't change much," he said.

Ulatowski said September and October are gaining on the traditional months of May and June as a favorite time to get married.

Also, the Friday night candlight service is gaining in popularity, he said.

"It gives them a long weekend," Ulatowski said.

Ulatowski said Catholics are taking more time to plan a wedding, with the norm as six to eight months.

People are also taking a more active role in the type of service performed.

"They're picking their own readers and passages and writing their own vows," Ulatowski said.

The phrase "honor and obey" has been eliminated from the ceremonies, Ulatowski said.

Wedding Bands Symbolize Constancy

Good news! Marriage is back in style and today's weddings have returned en masse to the traditions of the past. One of the best and most beautiful traditions involved the exchange of rings. Why the ring?

There are two ancient beliefs linked to the conceptual design of the wedding rign as it is known today. First, gold signified noble and durable affection. Second, roundness symbolized the constancy of love and the unending respect and regard for the loved one.

The custom of placing the wedding or betrothal ring on the fourth finger seems to have generated from the ancient Egyptian idea that a special nerve or vein of this finger ran directly to the heart.

The first diamond rings became popular in France during the reign of Louis XI (1461-1483). At this time, the art of faceting stones was invented, in turn bringing diamonds, symbols of endurance and strength, quickly into favor.

When Maximilian of Austria proposed to Mary of Burgundy in 1477, he presented her with a diamond ring; the diamond band has since represented a pledge of love.

Thanks to a seemingly endless array of styles, today's marrying couples can demonstrate their individuality in the rings they select.

Jewelers of America (JA), the national association of more than 12,000 retail jewelers across the country, notes that every possible style is in today's market, ranging from old antique fashions to modern-looking wedding bands.

Gold is still the favorite for today's wedding bands. And, although the plain gold wedding band continues to maintain its dominance in the market, rings with texture and detailing are making strong inroads.

Silk Is Elegant

A lighter than air China-silk gown has a tucked skirt. Pearls frame the off-the-shoulder neckline and form rosettes to accent the short puffed sleeves. Veil is crowned with pearl centered rosettes.

Florist Thrives On Outdoing Even Herself

by SUSAN MONTGOMERY

Mothers of the bride never had it so good.

If you think planning one wedding is enough, imagine co-ordinating floral arrangements for five weddings all in one day.

That's just what florist Debbie Mullen does. To say that she thrives on pressure is an understatement.

During the heaviest wedding seasons, Mullen just might be dashing from her shop, Debbie's Floral, in Mundelein to Chicago to Deerfield and back to Mundelein again.

How does such a pace affect her work? Only in that the creations for each wedding are as individual as the brides themselves. "I thrive on deadline pressure; it helps me create new designs. I'm always trying to outdo myself, to come up with new ideas or arrangements that we haven't done before," Mullen says.

Paying close attention to the bride's likes and dislikes, and coming up with original floral designs is what Mullen feels adds a personal touch in planning for a wedding.

"You want every bride to feel her wedding is special," she says.

During the initial visit, Mullen offers clients a free consultation which takes in all aspects of the planning, from colors and types of flowers to establishing a budget range.

"Everyone has a look they're trying to create. I try to help them sort out those ideas to help achieve that look," she says.

Designs can range from the traditional roses, lilies and carnations to the more exotic birds of paradise from South America, antherium and speckled mauve-colored reubum lilies.

"We can pull in daily any type of flowers from markets in Australia, Holland, South Africa, anywhere," Mullen adds.

Together with her full-time designer, Margaret Cletcher, Mullen is ready to take on even the most challenging schedule.

Mullen relies on a particular strategy to help her through the busiest of seasons.

"I mentally rehearse each step of the wedding — where each arrangement goes, what color is the bride's mother's wristlet, everything — before the day arrives. I seldom have to go back to the schedule book and check," she says.

What keeps her going at such a hectic pace?

"I love working with the customers. When people call you afterwards and you see how happy it has made them, it makes your day."

Keep Reception Schedule Flexible

by MARK BENNO

Karen Dempsey, banquet manager at the Country Squire restaurant in Grayslake, stresses one important point about planning the reception for a wedding: "time is valuable."

Dempsey has handled many banquets for the Country Squire, and her experience in the field may prove helpful in the search for a reception facility.

One of the most important things to keep in mind, says Dempsey, is the coordination of the wedding ceremony and reception. Rather than narrowing down possible dates for both the ceremony and reception, one should allow at least a month for unanticipated changes.

Dempsey says that it's common for people to arrange a date with a church only to find that the desired banquet hall has no openings. It makes things much easier when a person can ask for a certain month instead of only one particular day.

Another detail prospective couples must decide upon is an accurate guest list. Dempsey says that when people call with a proposed guest list of 100-200 people, there's no way to help them. She believes a list with a possible error of only 25 is necessary to arrange a banquet hall.

The menu and prices must also be quickly established. It is a waste of time to consider a menu that is too expensive or limited to properly supply the reception party.

Many banquet halls, such as the Country Squire, conduct both the wedding ceremony and reception on their premises. During the summer weddings are often held outside, and in colder months indoors. Having both the ceremony and reception at the same facility could make the planning run more smoothly.

Most banquet halls which furnish wedding receptions are booked about a year in advance. Summer, spring, and fall weddings tend to have longer waiting lists, while winter weddings are generally easier to accommodate. This fact should be considered when planning for a wedding.

Dempsey says, however, that people planning a wedding in less than 10 months time should not give up. Even though some places are booked, a person should still call to make sure, since cancellations are always a possibility. It is also easier to book a hall on short notice when the proposed guest list is relatively small.

According to Dempsey, one valuable tip concerns tentative reservations. She says that there's a lot of people who call to inquire about a date but don't actually reserve it. When one is serious about a certain hall, she suggests making tentative reservations on an open date. Contact the hall within a week after making these reservations to finalize plans.

'Dynasty' s latest beauty also knows how to act

By Constance Pace

Memo to producer Aaron Spelling: You have a penchant for hiring extremely beautiful, glamorous actresses for your shows, nine-tenths of them (conservatively) in the "drop dead" gorgeous category. But just in case it has escaped you, your latest discovery can act!

Leann Hunley

Yes, blond, leggy Leann Hunley, who has just joined "Dynasty" as Blake Carrington's secretary, Dana Waring, can fill out those Nolan Millers and carry a scene, too. In fact, Hunley, who in June wrapped up four years playing fashion designer Anna Di Mera on "Days of Our Lives," scored the upset of the daytime soap opera year by winning an Emmy for Best Supporting Actress in July.

The voting system for the Daytime Emmys is so archaic that someone who truly merits an acting award rarely wins one. Unfortunately, Hunley was not in New York City to hear the war whoops of the assembled soap press when her award was announced the day of the ceremony. "I was working on an episode of 'Hotel,' which was also part of my test for 'Dynasty.' But my manager called me, and he cried, and I cried, and I went home, and my husband (real estate developed Bill Sheridan) was crying. The next day, I got so many flowers my house looked like a funeral parlor."

The award was tinged with irony, since "Days of Our Lives" had failed to renew her regular contract, supposedly because of a lack of a story line. But she was already in the process of getting her "Dynasty" role at the time. "I was up for a role on 'The Colbys" (Channing Carter, now played by another daytime soap alumnus, Kim Morgan Green), but they gave me this. Dana is going to be a good guy. She'll be very, very important to Adam Carrington. It's going to be serious. And Gordon Thomson (who plays Adam) is a love. I miss my 'family' from 'Days,' but on 'Dynasty,' I feel like an orphan who has taken in by a new family."

Hunley came to Hollywood in 1978 and did many episodics during two years as a Universal contract player. Yet, it wasn't until two years into "Days" that she really got a chance to show that beauty isn't everything. "I was playing Mustang Sally in Ford commercials, and suddenly everyone noticed me. That included our producer, who finally expanded my role."

ARIES
(March 21-April 20)
Pursue a new avenue of educational thought that is exciting and different. Take some time off and enjoy yourself.

TAURUS
(April 21-May 20)
Travel objectives may not be what they once were but you will find that by sticking to a plan you will succeed in making a fond dream come true.

GEMINI
(May 21-June 20)
Business dealings are productive. Your eager mind grasps new opportunities as they present themselves one by one at this prosperous time of your life.

CANCER
(June 21-July 22)
Your down-to-earth attitude will gain the respect of business colleagues who will assist you on a project that could help bring you attention.

LEO
(July 23-Aug. 22)
Keep your head above water where expenditures are concerned. You may be spending more than you should, and for objects or services which aren't necessary.

VIRGO
(Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
A moneymaking scheme will give you the lift you've needed at his particular time. Romance could take a back seat to a new financial deal.

LIBRA
(Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Family relationships could be on the wane. Be careful what you say to your mate if you wish to keep peace and harmony at home. Discuss a new project with a loved one.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 23-Nov. 22)
Patch up a broken engagement or friendship. Frail talk could lead to frayed nerves. Be on the lookout for a competitor for another's affections.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You may feel envious of another's success and not realize that you have much to offer the world. Spruce up neglected areas of your life.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your romantic life is about to take a dramatic new turn. You could fall madly in love with someone totally different from those of past experiences.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
It's shape-up-or-ship-out week. Don't begrudge another the freedom you may have once enjoyed. Share a secret with the person you trust the most.

PISCES
(Feb. 19-March 20)
Your dynamic personality is about to erupt and change another's life. Persons who may be related to you could do you in financially.

ome Brides Would Do It Differently

18th Century Gown

White satin wedding gown of the 18th century, worn by socialite Mrs. St. Clair, was trimmed with lace in festooned flounces and edged with silver gimp as was in fashion.

by GLORIA DAVIS

No matter how many books on "How To Plan Your Wedding," a bride may read, and no matter how carefully she follows everyone's advice, most brides would do some things a little differently if they had their "druthers."

Mrs. Larry Schiltz of Lindenhurst, who has been married for a little over a year, said, "I think I would make sure that the cocktail hour before the dinner was just that, an hour.

Because the wedding ceremony was over at 3 p.m. and the dinner was not set until 6 p.m., many out of town guests went straight to the reception and started celebrating so early that it ruined the dinner for some."

Laura Marino, a Wisconsin bride, said that she would be more careful about looking at the church beforehand.

"The minister told us that there would be no altar to put flowers on and that the pew decorations and candles should be enough to decorate the church," she said.

"When we arrived at the church there was a temporary altar set up that held only two candles and looked very bare. Thank goodness someone had sent me several dozens of roses which were in vases at our new home. A quick gathering up of these put two giant vases of roses on the altar."

Mrs. John Drew of Antioch Twp., a summer 1986 bride, said, "I would be more careful and investigate the place where I rented the tuxedoes. The ones we got were ill-fitting and cheap looking, not at all like the smaples we saw, even though they cost over $60 apiece to rent. I felt that the men would have looked better in nice suits."

One bride said that she would use silk flowers for hers and her bridesmaid's bouquets instead of real ones if she were to do it again.

"We used white roses which didn't hold-up at all. I was in a girlfriend's wedding two weeks later and I still have the silk bouquet I carried and it looks just as good as it did before the wedding."

Joan Jason from just outside of Wildwood, who was married for two years and is the process of getting a divorce said, "I certainly wouldn't spend the thousands of dollars my parents did even if I were to married for the first time."

"It was lovely but we could have used that money more than many of the luxurious gifts we got. My case proves its not how beautiful the wedding is but how mature the two people who are getting married are that really counts when you get down to it."

The Hallmark

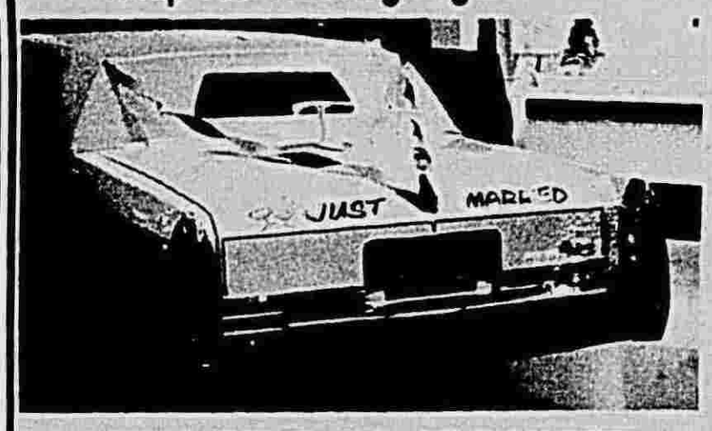

A law was passed in 14th century England whereby a silversmith was obliged to leave a mark on all his wares identifying them as made by him. His personal mark was assigned to him by the king. These marks were called hallmarks because all silver articles were assayed and marked at the London's Goldsmiths' Hall.

See Mylady's Gowns At Expo

by GLORIA DAVIS

Expo '87, a complete bridal show, sponsored by Debbie's Floral of Mundelein and Lakeland Newspapers, will be held on Sunday, Jan. 19, at the Holiday Inn in Gurnee.

Mylady's Bridal Fashions, located at 2529 Waukegan Rd. in Banneckburn(intersection of Rtes. 22 and 43) will be showing the bridal fashions. Metta Behrendt, Mylady's owner, has been in the bridal business, starting out on Michigan Ave. in Chicago.

Having been born in Europe, she lends a continental touch to her bridal service, having studied to be a seamstress and designer there.

Mylady's has been open for a year this November. Metta will be a having a special anniversary party on Saturday, Nov. 1, when she will be serving all visitors imported campagne as they browse through her complete wedding services.

For that one day only, all of Mylady's bridal merchandise will be on sale from 20 to 50 percent less than retail price.

Mylady's features a wide selection of bridal gowns, bridesmaids' gowns,junior bridesmaids' and flower girls' gowns, as well as making available just about anything else that it takes to complete the perfect wedding.

Expo '87 will feature bridalwear for spring and summer. These lines can be seen in completion just after the start of the new year at Mylady's.

One of the newest designs that will be shown at the bridal show is a tapered sheath with a detachable train, especially good on the older more sohpisticated bride.

The cool and simple off-the-shoulder look, akin to that worn by Civil War southern belles, is still popular for summer brides.

Metta says that, although alecon lace is still the number one material rquested in bridal gowns, many of summer's brides will be wearing softer gowns using appliques instead of jeweling.

She adds, "Of course pearls and crystals will still be found studding the lace of many bridal gowns."

Hats are still in for brides, especially the large picture hat so perfect for garden weddings that are becoming popular again, but "some people are just not hat people," says Metta.

Wreaths made of silk flowers with streamers and just a touch of veiling lead the summer wedding parade.

This spring and summer, more brides may be wearing candelight or ivory wedding gowns instead of the traditional pure white.

"I find the ivory is softer or more flattering to many bride's complexions, especially blondes. But the stark white gown is still very dramatic on a brunette bride," Meta said.

Because of the popularity of ivory bridal gowns, many grooms and groomsmen are also wearing ivory. the groom wears all ivory while the groomsmen are distinguished by cumberbunds and ties that are the same shade as the gowns worn by the bridesmaids.

Although the traditional pastels will still be worn by a bulk of spring and summer's bridemaids, deeper teal and fuschia, which are so popular in regular women's fashions, will also be featured for spring and summer bridemaids.

Although the t-length(waltz length) bridal gowns seem to be only in demand by second time around brides, mothers of both the bride and groom prefer that length instead of floor lenth gowns.

In Expo '87, Mylady's will feature bridal gowns ranging from $500 to $900 in price(she does carry more expensive ones), and bridemaids' gowns that range in price from $100 to $120.

Weddings For All Ages

If you believe that you are too old to be married, think again. The oldest bridegroom in history, so far as is known, was Ralph Cambridge, who was 105 when he married his 70-year-old wife in South Africa in 1971.

'Dynasty' Tuxedos Lead Pack

by GLORIA DAVIS

With "Dynasty" keeping the nightime soap opera fans glued to their tv sets every week, featuring dapper gentlemen in tuxedo garb at almost every occasion, it is a natural for Gingiss Formalwear Center to feature the "Dynasty Collection."

According to a representative of Gingiss in Waukegan, at 2201 Grand Ave., has been outdistancing by far all of their other tuxedo styles that are being rented for weddings and other special occassions.

The most popular, an exclusive in the Waukegan area, is the "Sharkskin Dynasty," a medium grey tux with pleated pants.

The grey "Carrington", the "Black Diamond" and the "Ivory Dynasty" are all getting a big rental play that is expected to continue through the spring and summer wedding season.

The Waukegan Gingiss is also in the process of expanding its stock on cummerbunds and ties that match bridesmaid dresses.

This use, to tie the outfits worn by the wedding paty together, is especially popular when the groom and his groomsmen wear the ivory or all white tuxedos.

All tuxes available are ready and in stock and Gingiss also carries a complete line of gifts for the groomsmen. If there are five or more tuxs rented for the wedding party, the groom receives his free of charge.

Carat Weight

A diamond is measured in carats, and there are 100 points in a carat, like cents in a dollar. A carat is equal to one-quarter of a gram and there are 142 carats to the ounce. The larger the diamond, the scarcer it is and the higher the value per carat but, remember that size alone does not determine value. Cut, color and clarity must also be taken into account. For example, a top-color, flawless half-carat diamond will be worth more than a warmer color, flawed one-carat stone.

Contracts Change

Marriage contracts traditionally stipulated the bride's dowry, her obligations to her spouse and her husband's responsibility to her.

A very colorful example of an old marriage contract is one that was drawn up by a Scottish sea captain during the 19th century. In nautical terms, he outlines his and his spouse's duties to each other which include the traditional concepts of wifely obedience in exchange for a husband's care and protection.

"I explained to her the conditions under which we were to sail in company on life's voyage," states the sailor.

"She is to obey signals without question when received.

"She is to steer by my reckoning.

"She is to stand by as a true consort in foul weather, battle or shipwreck.

"She is to run under my guns if assailed by picaroons or privateers.

"I am to keep her in due repair and see that she hath her allowance of coats of paint, streamers and bunting as befits a saucy craft.

"I am to take no other craft in tow, and if any be now attached to cut their hawsers (lines.)

"I am to revictual (feed) her every day.

"Should she be blown on her beam ends by wind or misfortune, I am to stand by and see her righted.

"I am to set our course for the Great Harbor in the hope that good mooring may be found for two well-built crafts when laid up for eternity."

02-01 CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 02-01

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 9 OF ARTICLE I (Bail)

Explanation of Proposed Amendment

The proposed amendment deals with the category of persons who may be denied bail under the Illinois Constitution. The present constitutional provision permits denial of bail only for persons charged with offenses punishable by death or life imprisonment, and only where the proof is evident or the presumption is great that the person charged committed the crime. If the People of Illinois adopt this proposed amendment, judges would also be empowered to deny bail to persons charged with felonies that carry a mandatory sentence of imprisonment upon conviction where: (1) the proof is evident or the presumption great that the person charged committed the crime; and (2) the court, after a hearing, finds that the defendant poses a real and present threat to the safety of any person. The proposed amendment also requires the State to reimburse any unit of local government for additional costs incurred as a result of the denial of bail under this provision. The denial of bail means the defendant would not be released from custody prior to trial.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTER: Punch the number opposite "YES" or "NO" to indicate your choice.

For the proposed amendment to Section 9 of Article I of the Illinois Constitution which will permit a court to deny bail: a) to persons charged with felony offenses if conviction would carry a mandatory sentence of imprisonment; b) when the proof is evident and the presumption great; and c) if the court, after a hearing, finds that the defendant poses a real and present threat to the safety of any person. Further, the amendment would require the State to reimburse a unit of local government for costs incurred as a result of this provision.

03-01 CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 03-01

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 6 OF ARTICLE IX
(Veterans' Property Tax Exemption)

This proposed Amendment to Article IX, Section 6 of the Illinois Constitution would authorize the General Assembly to pass legislation that exempts from taxation property used exclusively for veterans' organizations. The proposed amendment would require the State to reimburse a unit of local government for the loss in revenue incurred by such unit of local government as a result of the property tax exemption for veterans' organizations. The Constitution now authorizes property tax exemptions only for:

- State property;
- Local government and school district property;
- Property used exclusively for agricultural and horticultural societies; and
- Property used exclusively for school, religious, cemetery, or charitable purposes.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTER: Punch the number opposite "YES" or "NO" to indicate your choice.

For the proposed amendment to Section 6 of Article IX of the Constitution which will authorize property tax exemptions for property used exclusively for veterans' organizations and require the State to reimburse units of local government for the loss in revenue incurred as a result of such property tax exemptions for veterans' organizations.

04-01 STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE 04-01

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTER

To cast a STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE, punch the number beside the name of the party of your choice. (A STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE casts a vote for every candidate of that party.) To complete voting the entire ballot, turn to Judicial Retention and Proposition pages.

You may SPLIT your vote by punching a STRAIGHT PARTY number AND THEN punch individual candidates' numbers for the offices you wish to CROSS OVER for. (An individual punch always supersedes a STRAIGHT PARTY PUNCH for that office.) To complete voting the entire ballot, turn to Judicial Retention and Proposition pages.

To SPLIT your vote in contests where more than one candidate is to be elected, you MUST punch for each candidate of your choice. To complete voting the entire ballot, turn to Judicial Retention and Proposition pages.

If you DO NOT wish to cast a STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE, turn to the individual offices, Judicial Retention and Proposition pages.

ABSENTEE VOTING

Many registered voters in Lake County are unable to vote in person at their polling place on election day. Below are the correct procedures to follow to vote by Absentee Ballot.

-1-

To obtain the proper application for an Absentee Ballot, call the Lake County Clerk's Office at 312-360-5912. The application will then be sent to you by mail.

-2-

Upon receipt, complete the application. Be sure to include your name, home address and, if different, the address where you want the ballot to be mailed.

-3-

After completing the application, mail it to the County Clerk's Office. All applications must be received by the Clerk's Office on or before Thursday, October 30, 1986 in order to be processed. Your ballot will be mailed to you promptly.

-4-

You may also vote in person at the County Clerk's Office or at several other locations throughout the County. In person voting will be conducted until the close of business on November 3, 1986. Call the Absentee Voting Department at 312-360-5912 for the location nearest you.

WHO MAY VOTE BY ABSENTEE BALLOT?

- A registered voter expecting to be absent from Lake County on election day.
- A registered voter temporarily residing outside their precinct while a student attending an institution of higher learning.
- Registered voters appointed to be judges of election in a precinct other than their own.
- Registered voters unable to go to the polls because of a physical disability.
- Registered voters observing a religious holiday.
- Registered voters employed in the Office of the Lake County Clerk or the Lake County State's Attorney performing election duties.
- Registered or non-registered members of the U.S. Armed Forces, the Merchant Marine, civilian employees of the U.S. Government serving outside the U.S. and their spouses and dependents of voting age.
- Registered voters incarcerated as a pre-trial detainee.

LAKE COUNTY CLERK

Linda Ianuzi Hess
COUNTY CLERK

18 N. COUNTY STREET
WAUKEGAN, ILLINOIS 60085
312/360-6660

Dear Voter:

We hope you will find this Voter Information Guide to be a handy, last-minute reference for all the important details you will need to cast your vote on Tuesday, November 4. Inside you will find a complete listing of all county-wide polling places (noting which ones are completely accessible to the handicapped and elderly voter), instructions for using the Voto-Matic machine and casting a write-in vote, and copies of the pages or sample ballots which list the candidates and referenda which will be on your ballot on election day.

We hope that this Guide answers your voting questions. If you still have specific questions after reviewing it, please do not hesitate to call our Elections Department at 360-6628 at any time. We want to answer your questions before November 4, so election day will go smoothly for you and for us.

Happy voting and thank you for helping to make our system of government work.

Very truly yours,

Linda Ianuzi Hess
Lake County Clerk

rayslake Pair rase Pencil Care

RK BENNO
eland Newspapers has with Lucy and Harvey in their efforts to e pencils for some of verty-stricken citizens ico.

Gartins want to stress fact that while an ment of old pencils seem insignificant to Americans, they are a l treasure to the cans. The lack of r funds in Mexico it a country where racy is forced upon of its people.

rvey's old job at In- tional Harvester made sy to collect the old ils. Since he left, ever, it's been much difficult for him to ure the pencils.

e Gartins will be leaving Mexico with another load pencils around nksgiving. The affection caring which Harvey Lucy have extended ard the Mexican citizens epresented by their gifts encils.

What most people don't derstand, according to cy, is that most of the exican people are not arving. The extreme overty of their nation has ought about a different rm of malnutrition: little no learning.

Only the financially secure eceive proper educations in lexico. Many Americans, though, have trouble even comprehending a society where education is not a birth-right. And, if confronted with that situation, most Americans would not know where to start to relieve the problem.

Lucy and Harvey have decided to start at the very root of the problem, a lack of learning supplies. Even where good teaching is available, students still need paper and pencils to complete the needs of a basic education.

That's why Lakeland Newpapers decided to aid the Gartins in their search for old pencils. Since the Gartins didn't publicly ask for the supplies, the number of pencils they were able to gather on their own was greatly limited.

Lakeland has established a drop-off box for old pencils in their Grayslake office. Anyone with old pencils that they don't need anymore are asked to stop by the office, at 30 S. Whitney St., during regular business hours to leave the pencils in the box.

The Gartins will be leaving soon, so the time to aid their good-will mission is limited. It is hoped that they will return to Mexico with enough pencils to ease some of the education problems.

To Close Locks

The McHenry Lock, located on the Fox River near McHenry, will close to all boat traffic for the winter season at 11:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 2.

Until the closing date and time given above, hours of operation for the lock will continue as before, 8 a.m. to midnight, seven days a week.

The closing date has been chosen so that routine maintenance and preparations for winter can be accomplished before the onset of freezing weather.

The McHenry Lock is operated by the Illinois Dept. of Transporation, Division of Water Resources, utilizing funds appropriated from the State Boating Act Fund. There is no charge for boats using the lock.

Sponsor Bazaar

The residents of Winchester House, 1125 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, will sponsor their annual Christmas Bazaar on Monday, Nov. 17. It will be held in the Craft Room from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Any outside donatins of craft items or baked goods would be greatly appreciated.

e weather score for -one good weekend, rainy. It's getting to be tine now. Through it all weekend the leaves kept ng, frustrating those already had bags fulls of "stuff" and had to stay de and watch while the n disappeared again. The cago Bears managed to ast Detroit in a less-than-ctacular game, and the rld Series Game No. 7 got ncelled due to rain. aturally!" said all the men who had hoped seball would be over by s weekend so life could get ck to normal.

Life began to get more rmal for Dr. William C. tty, welcomed home this eek after many months of cuperation from a stroke. or those of you who are cent arrivals to the An-och area, Dr. Petty was ake County Superintendent f Schools for over 40 years nd has an Antioch school amed in his honor. Dr. Petty, who will be 88 years young on Nov. 7, will welcome visitors each day after noon.

Antioch will soon have a Junior Women's Club, according to Linda Pedersen, temporary chairperson for the 15 women who met to consider starting an Antioch chapter. They will be looking for new members as soon as the group gets organized.

"Footlights & Fancy Free '86" sponsored by St. Peter Catholic parish is coming soon. If you buy a ticket before it opens at 6:30 p.m., Oct. 31, you can save $2 per ticket. Tickets for $7 are now available at Antioch financial institutions, St. Peter's church and school, and others. Admission at the door is $9.

If getting scared out of your wits is your "bag," you can still attend the Antioch Jaycees Haunted House out at the Windy City Circus complex in Channel Lake through Oct. 31. Hours are 7 to 10 p.m. Admission is $2.

For more scaring, attend Grass Lake Ghouls' 12th Annual Haunted House, two miles west of Rte. 59 on Grass Lake Rd. Doors open at 7 p.m. through Nov. 1. Admission is $2.50. A 50-cent children's matinee will be held Saturday, Nov. 1 from 2-4 p.m.

Remember, all you little ghosts and goblins, "Trick or Treat" hours are from 3 to 6 p.m. on Halloween, Oct. 31.

In case you don't get enough candy, you can always ask your Antioch Grade School band members to sell you some of those delicious chocolate bars they will be selling from Nov. 1-13. Proceeds from this annual candy sale, sponsored by Antioch Band Parents' Assn., directly benefit the school band program through the purchase of instruments, equipment and music and help keep the band program at its outstanding level.

The ladies of the Antioch United Methodist Church will be presenting an outstanding bazaar Nov. 1 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. They will present booths with country kitchen items, a Christmas booth, a "this & that" booth with hand-knit items, "white elephant" booth, baked goods, and homemade candy. Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. for $3.95. Children under 12, $2.

Don't forget to stop by the 12th annual Coin Show Nov. 2 at Antioch High School from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is free.

College-bound students and their parents are invited to attend College Night at Antioch High School from 7 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 4. Nearly 70 college or university representatives will be there to discuss their particular institutions with those interested.

The Antioch chapter of Women's Aglow will meet Tuesday, Nov. 4, 7:30 p.m. at the State Bank of Antioch. Guest speaker will be Susan Turk, pastor's wife, mother of five children, kindergarten teacher with a wonderful testimony of God's healing power in her life.

In sports this week, the Freshmen Soccer team brought home the first soccer trophy for Antioch High School. Nice going, guys!

The Antioch Sequoits went hunting bison this week--Fenton Bison to be exact. With an identical 2-5 record at stake, Antioch Varsity Sequoits attacked and won 14-0. In other games, it was Antioch sophomores tying Fenton 6-6. Antioch Freshmen A brought their record to 4-4 with a 0-6 loss to them. The Freshmen B squad is 5-1 with a 24-3 win over Round Lake.

It's playoff time for the Antioch Viking Junior Tackle Football traveling teams, both with a 6-1 regular season record. Playing in the semi-final, results were:

Antioch Viking Heavyweights 39, Fox Lake Heavyweights 12.

The score doesn't indicate the toughness of the game. In the first half, Fox Lake outplayed Antioch even though the Vikings managed to put 15 points on the board to their 12. Norm Weldon scored on a 20-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Dan Pappadakis. Adam Perry kicked a two-point conversion. Frank Hannigan scored next on a five-yard run with a one-point conversion pass from Pappadakis to tightend Jack Thompson. In the second half the Vikings scored 24 more points while holding Fox Lake scoreless. Pappadakis and Weldon combined again with a 27-yard touchdown pass. Adam Perry kicked for two more. Fullback Frank Hannigan did it again this time with a 40-yard run. Two more points from Adam Perry. The final scoring came on tailback Dan Stout's 15-yard run. Adam Perry converted for two more.

Defensive standouts were outside linebacker jason DeBruhl, linebacker Ken Paddock, tackle Chris Gluck and cornerback Dale Morgan.

Antioch Viking Lightweights, _28, Fox Lake Lightweights, 0.

Scoring four touchdowns were: Tom Lehn with two, Tim Lehn, and Bill Wons. Running in one point conversions were: Garrett Horn with two, Bill Wons, and Romey Johnson. The defense played an exceptional game.

Playing for the North Division Championship next Sunday, Nov. 2, the Vikings will be host to Round Lake at Antioch High School. Starting time will be noon for the Lightweights, with the Heavyweights immediately following. Come out and see good football! Admission is free.

In Antioch Viking Featherweight football, ties were the name of the game. In a contest for first place the Bears fought the Seahawks to a 0-0 tie. In an intense, exciting, push-'em-back type of game, both teams played the game of their lives. Both coaches were pleased with their teams' efforts.

For the Bears: Offensive line honors to Dan Nerroth, John Abbate, and Ricky Cerk; offensive honors to runningbacks Mike Welsh, Ed Zydeck, and Brian Nelson. Defensive line honors to Todd Beran and Jamie Montgomery. Honors also to blitzing linebackers Mike Welsh and Ed Zydeck and end Jim Lubkeman.

For the Seahawks: Defensive honors to Gary Oilschlager, Mike Nix, Jason Bonds, Tim Brand, and Ben Antonelli. Offensive honors to Randy Burgmeier playing his first game as Center, Jim Tonyan playing his first game as quarterback, Sam McKee, Mike Gedville, D.C. Malson, and Mike Leonard.

Viking Raiders 7, McHenry 7.

The Raiders scored on an 85-yard punt return by Aaron Crippen. Mike Tontis did a good job of punting. The extra point was run in by Brian Grasser. Good defense was had from Jason Forrest and Ross Mueller. Dave Murphy made many game-saving tackles. Scott English played a strong game both offensively and defensively.

Viking Eagles 12, Mundelein 12.

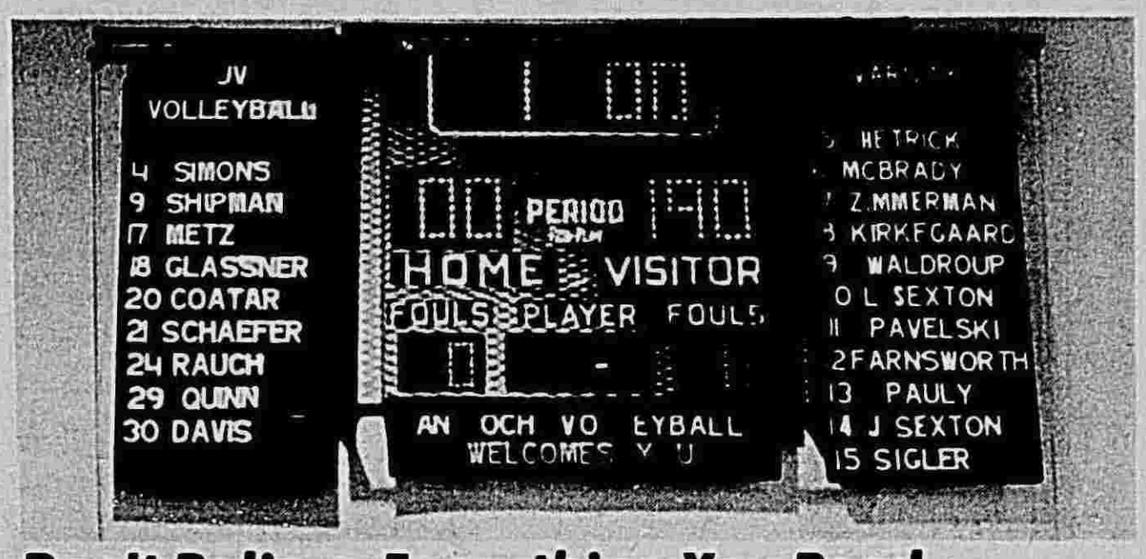

The Eagles were losing 12-0 at the half. In the second half the defense shut Mundelein out. No extra points were scored either half. Outstanding on defense were noseguard John Stedl and end Mike Roman. Offensive kudos to quarterback Mike Roman, third back Scott Connelly and fourth back Corey Eidel.

Next Sunday the Featherweight All-Star game will be played on the Sequoit (big) field at 10 a.m. The Bears and Eagles will form the Beagles while the Raiders and Seahawks will be called the Raihawks. All stars from these teams will compete together.

Shoots 700 Series

Joe Sturbenz, proprieter of the Antioch Bowling Lanes bowled "Back to Back" 700 series in the Tuesday mixed league at Antioch Bowl. On Sept. 30, Joe shot 729. On Oct. 7, he rolled games of 253, 244, and 288 to give him his highest series ever at 785.

Joe is now averaging 222, not bad for an "old" proprieter. He credits his two 700 series to the new rulings on lane dressings. His next goal is an 800 series.

Don't Believe Everything You Read

The scoreboard at the Antioch-Warren volleyball match went haywire and not only showed a very wrong lopsided score but instead of losing, the Sequoits won 15-13, 15-13.

Federal Grant Helps County Promote Economic Growth

Stimulating the growth of new business and expansion of existing firms throughout the Lake County area is the focus of a program sponsored by the Lake County Small Business Development Program Committee in cooperation with the College of Lake County.

The committee, comprised of representatives from business, industry financial institutions, education, local government, civic groups and economic development organizations, was formed after the county received one of three federal grants nationwide.

The goal of the program is the creation of between 25 and 30 new businesses and the expansion of 50 to 75 expansions during a two-year period, according to Cranston Byrd, deputy director of the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality.

Byrd prepared the county's application for funding from the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Richard Nixon, chairman of the Lake County Small Business Development Program Committee, said, "Although the grant for the program covers two years, we expect that it will remain a part of the county's economic development effort on a self-sustaining basis well beyond that period.

"Lake County will reap the benefits of new business, job growth and expanded opportunities for its residents for years to come," he said.

The program will cover four major components: an analysis of market opportunities in the county to identify undersupplied businesses which are prime candidates for start-ups or expansions;

— an education and management training program set up at the College of Lake County;

— a program of technical assistance will be coordinated with a number of volunteers and counselors, well trained in dealing with small business problems;

— a financial advisory panel will be formed, ideally comprised of local bankers.

What's Happening . . .

Women's Aglow Fellowship

The Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet at 10:30 a.m. sharp on Thursday, Nov. 6, to hear Russ and Debbie Waugh speak at Hob Nobs II Restaurant, Rte. 14 and 31 in Crystal Lake. The menu will be veal parmesan. There is a charge and reservations are required. Call (312) 639-2243, (815) 338-1768 or (815) 459-7660 before 9 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 4.

'Food For Thought'

The second in the series of lectures entitled "Food For Thought," will take place Wednesday, Nov. 5 at Gorton Community Center in Lake Forest. The speaker will be Robert Glauber, director of Lake Forest College's Sonnenschein Gallery, who will present "Not For Children Only: A History of the American Comic Strip." Reservations are required at least 24 hours in advance with a $5 registration fee which includes a buffet lunch at noon, followed by the lecture. Reservations may be made through Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd. in Lake Forest, or by calling (312) 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Entertainment Coupons

The Chain-of-Lakes Branch of the American Assn. of University Women will be selling Entertainment '87 books, which contain discounts on dining, sports and theater events, as well as hotel and condominium accomodations. The women will begin selling these books on Nov. 1, and money from the sales will be sent to the national office for the association's Educational Foundation Program. The program is offered nationally to members to assist them in furthering post graduate education. For more information contact Gloria Berta at (312) 356-6039 or any Chain-Of-Lakes Branch member.

Offer Babysitting Course

Northern Illinois Medical Center (NIMC), in cooperation with the American Red Cross, will offer a certified babysiting course which includes first-aid, home management and child care. Participants must be between 11 and 14 years of age. Classes will meet Nov. 4, 5, 11 and 12, from 4 to 6 p.m. at NIMC in Rm. 861. The cost is $4 and preregistration is required. Call the Education Department at NIMC, (815) 344-5927, ext. 4200 if you have a push-button phone; on a dial phone, call (815) 344-5000 and go through operator.

Meet For November Dance

The Country Squares will hold their November Dance on Saturday, Nov. 1 at Butterfield School in Libertyville. Al and Ruth Hallgren will have a rounds workshop at 8 p.m. Bob Wilson will begin squares at 8:30 p.m. Call (312) 566-7056 or (312) 566-5811 for more information.

onsor Speech Contest For High School Students school students of County have been in- y the 10th Dist. Coun- e American Legion to compete in the Annual National High School Oratorical Contest. The invitation to enter the competition has been extended by Larry Crone, Americanism Officer for the 10th Dist.

The subject in the prepared oration portion of the contest must be about some phase of the Constitution of the U.S., emphasizing the duties and obligations of a citizen of the U.S. government. The prepared oration must be the original effort of each contestant and must be eight to 10 minutes in length. In the second part of the contest, the contestant must give a three to five minute extemporaneous talk on one of the six Articles of the Constitution which will be chosen the day of the contest.

This year's contest will be held at Zion-Benton High School Horizon Campus on Wednesday, Feb. 4, 1987.

The winner of the district contest will receive a citation and be entered in the Second Division contest. The winner of the Second Division contest will receive a gold medal and be entered in the Dept. of Illinois finals. Each of the other three winners in the division contest will receive $100, $75 or $50. The winner of the department contest will receive a $1,000 scholarship and be entered in the regional contest.

In addition to the awards to the winners of the various elimination rounds of competition, university scholarships of $16,000, $14,000, $10,000 and $8,000 will be awarded to the first through fourth places in the national finals.

The American Legion will pay the expenses of state winners as they progress in national competition.

High school students who are interested in entering the competition can obtain co plete rules and contest formation at their h school, American Leg post, or by contacting La Crone, Americanism Offi at (312) 234-1462.

rge Seniors o File Early ior citizens who want to ive their Circuit ker checks by the end of ear are urged to file application by Nov. 15. pt. of Revenue director homas Johnson reminds ne who receives these relief checks from the that it's to their adage to apply early.

A person may file for tax ef anytime during the r," Johnson said. "Cir- Breaker grants are a tax ate for taxes paid the vious year. To receive a ate on taxes paid in 1985, erson must send in an application postmarked before dnight, Dec. 31, 1986.

"However, waiting until e final two months of 1986 apply will delay the Cirit Breaker check until id-spring of 1987. So yone who needs his check efore the end of the year hould apply now."

Because of the ordinary ax cycles, Circuit Breaker pplications received oward the end of the year an take longer than usual to rocess.

"The Dept. of Revenue understands how important his cash rebate check can e to an individual," Johnson said. "That's why we strongly encourage all Circuit Breaker applicants to apply early so that they will receive their checks before the end of the year."

Circuit Breaker tax rebates are available to Illinois citizens with annual household incomes of less than $14,000. Applicants also must be 65 years of age or older, or at least 16 years old and permanently disabled.

Two property tax relief grants are available: one for as much as $700, and an additional grant of $80. An applicant does not have to own a home to qualify. Persons who rent, live in nursing homes, with family members or in public housing may qualify for one or both of these grants.

More than 329,000 people have received grants so far this year, totaling $83,792,495 for the 1985 claim year.

Circuit Breaker application forms (IL-1363) are available from any Illinois Dept. of Revenue office listed in the telephone directory, from the Illinois Dept. on Aging, the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Centers, area legislators' offices and various senior citizen centers.

Individuals also may obtain applications by calling the Dept. of Revenue at (800)732-8866, (217)782-3336 or (217)782-6850; the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Centers at (800)252-6565; or the Disabled Individuals Assistance Line (DIAL) at (800)233-3425.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly tip: Look closer; appearances could be deceiving.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) Your natural warmth melts the last bit of frost as a reconciliation starts to heat up. Business pressures also begin to ease up.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) A change of scenery is one way of getting out from under a lot of business pressures. A short trip, near or far, can work wonders. Try it.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Avoid temptation to play games. Instead, be upfront with the person who cares for you. The time you save can be spent building a relationship.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) A real estate problem needs expert advice. A deal looks promising, but promises often turn out to be compromises, and you may not like the settlement.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) A new aspect is put on an old situation. But no matter how they try to shine it up, the gloss shouldn't blind you to the facts that lie beneath the surface.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Some sharp eyed person has plans that could stand a lot more scrutiny. If he resists a closer examination, get out before it collapses on you.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22) While some surface relationships can become deeper, don't waste time trying to turn a casual acquaintance into something beyond its capacity.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Roses are red, but violence is taboo. Don't be misled by what seems to be charm if you suspect that someone has less than the best intentions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) A former associate returns to stir up some problems. Handle them without getting drawn in too deeply. Keep a cool attitude.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Watch your penchant for talking too soon before the fact. Wait until all the pieces are in place before you start shouting about it from rooftops.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Slipping up is nothing to be ashamed of. Next time be sure you have all the facts you need before beginning your work. Ask questions.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Count the numbers carefully. There's a possibility of error in many situations requiring money or measurement. Get "sum" advice if you have doubts.

Legislative Races Are Snooze

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

Among the biggest yawns on the ballot are the contests for representative. All the incumbents are more highly favored to win than the Bears would be against Northwestern University.

Following is a summary of the races (if they can be called that) for legislative seats.

U.S. CONGRESS - 12th DIST.

Incumbent Republican Phil Crane is hammering away at the issues he always has - excessive taxation and spending, the need for a stronger defense, and the rest of the conservative agenda. Crane is an articulate, intellectual conservative who has represented the sentiments of his district.

His challenger, Democrat John Leonardi, says that Crane has not done enough to bring tax dollars back into the 12th District. Leonardi is a Democratic precinct committeeman in Algonquin Twp.

Crane will cruise through this one as he has so many before.

U.S. CONGRESS - 10th DIST.

Moderate Republican incumbent John Porter is opposed by liberal Democrat Robert Cleland. Cut straight from the George McGovern mold, Cleland is the director of the Committee for a Nuclear Overkill Moratorium. He would work to create a tri-partite authority, including government, labor and industry to create a national industrial policy.

Porter's prime concern for the next session of Congress is to come to grips with the deficit. He is fiscally conservative and pays attention to constituent requests.

Cleland is respected in liberal circles, but he chose the wrong district to run in. Porter is a shoo-in.

STATE SENATE

Incumbent Republicans David Barkhausen in Dist. 30 and Jack Schaffer in Dist. 32 are running unopposed.

Barkhausen puts emphasis on economic development issues and will work to contain the costs of doing business in Illinois.

Schaffer does not believe the general assembly has adequately addressed the liability insurance problem. It will be his top priority in the next session.

ILLINOIS HOUSE - DIST. 59

Incumbent Republican Virginia Fiester Frederick is unopposed. She will continue to work for economic development for Illinois. She also considers it crucial to reform education funding and to contain health care costs while offering quality care.

ILLINOIS HOUSE - DIST. 62

Incumbent Republican Robert Churchill is unopposed. The hallmark of his efforts in the general assembly has been economic development. He will continue to work to get Arlington Park Race Track for Lake County.

ILLINOIS HOUSE - DIST. 63

Incumbent Republican Dick Klemm is also unopposed. He has worked for economic development and has been especially concerned with environmental issues.

'Tis The Season, Already

Offer Tips For Safe Halloween

A safe and happy Halloween for trick-or-treaters and parents alike requires careful preplanning by both youngsters and parents, from the proper selection of costume to safety in the home, Lake County Sheriff Robert H. Babcox said.

"Parents need to take an active role in their children's Halloween plans to protect themselves from vandalism by following some simple safety rules, he advised.

Babcox offered the following 10 tips to a safer Halloween:

--Children's costumes should be made of lightweight and brightly colored material that is easily seen at night.

--A parent or responsible teen should accompany children on a preselected trick or treat route.

--Encourage children to stay on well-lit streets and to stop only at houses with porch lights on.

--Youngsters should be taught not to eat treats until they have returned home and parents have examined them.

--Children's costumes should not be long enough to become entangled in their feet or caught on bushes. Avoid clumsy shoes.

--Set a good example for children. Don't encourage them to enter a stranger's home by inviting them into yours.

--Stay home on Halloween night and keep your house well-lit to discourage mischievous pranksters.

--Avoid giving homemade treats or fruit.

--Remove any items from your yard that pranksters might remove themselves or that young children might fall over.

--Pay close attention to the treats your children bring home and throw away anything that is unwrapped or questionable. If any tampered candy or harmful items are found, notify the Sheriff's Dept. Criminal Investigations Div. at (312)360-7318.

Support

The Assn. of Women Attorneys of Lake County will conduct a law seminar on the topic of child support on Thursday, Nov. 6, from noon to 1 p.m. in the Waukegan Public Library second floor meeting room. The speakers will be attorneys Miriam Goldsmith and Julie Lundquist.

To Serve Pancakes

The Fox Lake Noon Lions Club, in conjunction with the Rising Sun Lodge 115 AFAM, Grayslake, will have their annual combined pancake breakfast from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 2 at Grant High School in Fox Lake.

The Rising Sun Lodge's portion of the proceeds will be given to Grant High School's Elmer C. Rich Scholarship Fund, in memory of Mr. Rich, who served so faithfully and so well for many years as teacher and confidante to many students.

The Elmer C. Rich Scholarship Fund was founded in 1951 to defray the college expenses for students who otherwise could not attend college.

Turner To Open New Law Firm

Attorney Aaron Turner has begun a general practice of law a 9 S. County St. in Waukegan. The new office is located across from the Lake County Courthouse and is open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Turner has returned home to Waukegan where he grew up and attended school. He received his undergraduate degree in political science at Southern University--Baton Rouge, where he also received his law degree.
